WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—A conservative backlash against certain—if not many aspects of the new deal has been started by a group of wealthy and politically prominent figures in both Democratic and Republican parties who have been vast-ly perturbed at what they consider tendencies of the Roosevelt Administration.

Prominent Names

Politicians gasped slightly today when they looked at the names of the sponsors of the new movement which is to be known as the "American Liberty League" for these sponsors are none other than:

Alfred E. Smith, Democratic presidential candidate in 1928.

PA NEW OBSERVES

North Shenango street will be open to traffic this week, Pa Newc believes. The resurfacing job is just about done at the West Grant street end and has been open to traffic for several days from West North to West Washington street.

Early this morning Joseph Pawlak of South New Castle Boro, informed Young Pa Newc that a sunflower in his farm is 14 feet high and is still growing.

Robert Robson, of Fairmont avenue claims to have in his possession the largest snowball puff found in Lawrence County. Harold Guy, of Wampum, who found the puff at Newport, in Lawrence County, stated that it measures 13 inches in diameter and weighs 5 pounds and is still growing.

Speaking of sunflowers, Campbell Carver, of Moody avenue, has a giant along this line which measures 12 feet 3 inches and is still growing. Mr. Carver had to climb on a step ladder to measure the little plant.

Up around the eastern end of Winter avenue, there is a family of fox squirrels that holds the interest of the residents of that neighborhood. They are quite tame and will come up and feed out of people's hands. After they have filled their little stomachs, they take the extra food and bury it in front yards and in the space between the sidewalk and curb, returning to get it when they are hungry again.

It has just been brought to light that several of the Old Timers, who were in attendance at the annual Old Timers picnic and reunion at Cascade Park last week, are as spry as ever they were, in spite of the encroachments of Father Time. They walked all the way to Cascade (Continued On Page Two)

CARROLLTON, Ill., Aug. 23.—In a peaceful country graveyard on the outskirts of this pretty little town where quiet has once more returned after its streets re-echoed to the din of the sorrowing multitude, Henry T. Rainey lay at rest today.

The man who so loved his native Carrollton that friends say he often regretted to leave it for the public life where he reached one of the highest offices of the land, need never leave again.

The grassy little knoll where Speaker of the House Henry T. Rainey was laid to rest yesterday at the side of his parents, John Rainey and Kate Thomas Rainey, overlooks the town of Carrollton and the beautiful Rainey 650-acre estate, Walnut Hill Farm, of which both Speaker Rainey and his community were so proud.

President Present
The President of the United States, Governor Henry Horner of Illinois, Senator William H. Dyer, of Illinois and a dozen United States congressmen were among the great men who came to Henry Rainey's home town to pay their respects to the man who made his mark in public life.

Choosing "Democracy vs. Dictatorship" as the topic for his fleeting luncheon-hour address to the Kiwanis club at The Castleton Wednesday, Dr. John Regester, professor of philosophy at College of Tacoma at Tacoma, Wash., a native of New Castle, took studious inventory of what both types of government have to offer.

"There was never a time when Democracy was more on the run than on the defensive than it is today," Dr. Regester told the club, adding later in his talk that "perhaps more significant, too, than the existence of these dictatorships is the open disavowal of democracy." Suspicion That Canadian Police May Still Be On Cold Trail In Labatt Case

MAKE PREDICTIONS BUT NOBODY ARRESTED

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 23.—Predictions of "imminent" arrests in the John S. Labatt kidnaping mystery have failed to materialize and the suspicion grew today that the Canadian police may not be as close on the heels of the men who "snatched" the wealthy brewer as the public has been led to believe.

For the past forty eight hours the dominion newspapers have been running front page stories purporting to contain "inside" information and indicating that arrests were only a matter of hours. But the hours have passed and with them the "deadline" for the arrests. And still nobody has been taken into custody.

The police have at no time made any predictions or arrests. They have said nothing officially. They have worked strictly under cover as per orders from Attorney General A. W. Roebuck at Toronto. All the official talking has been done by Roebuck and his latest comment is regarded by some observers as significant. He said:

"The public will have to wait"—but he assured them that the Labatt kidnaping is no hoax.

A lot of loose talk has been bandied about as a result of the censorship imposed on Labatt who, as yet, has not talked to the press. The unrevealed facts in the case have set the public to talking. The attorney general is quoted as saying a rumor has been current that the kidnaping was a hoax, or an advertising stunt. This rumor is characterized as "childish" by Roebuck.

The only basis for the reports of "imminent" arrests has been the occasional bursts of activity in London by the mobilized forces of the Royal Canadian mounted police and the (Continued On Page Two)

Over 35,000 Cups Of Coffee Distributed During Day; Program Is Interesting

Echoes of gaiety and laughter from a crowd of more than 5,000 persons, resounded throughout picturesque Cascade park on Wednesday, when the Lawrence County Retail Grocers & Meat Dealers association held their sixth annual picnic.

The outing was one of the biggest of the summer months at the local park and probably the most successful held by the organization.

Ideal Weather.
Greeted by ideal picnic weather early in the afternoon, the crowd commenced to gather early. Shortly before 2 o'clock over 3,000 persons were present. In the midst of the afternoon program, a torrential rain put a temporary stop to activities.

It lasted close to an hour. After Jupiter Pluvius did his part in trying to spoil the occasion, it was only a matter of about another hour and a half before the park was the scene of 5,000 Lawrence county residents.

One of the features of the program were the different athletic events. The pie eating contest and freckle face contest proved most interesting. In the dancing contest, the following were awarded prizes: Caricoa, won by Miss Mary Ponsi of 1141 South Mill street and A. Res- (Continued On Page Eight)

George Mudhardt Named As Acting Director Today

Succeeds Carl Leathers, Jas. A. Close Of Mifflin Co., Resident Engineer

ADMINISTRATIVE FORCE DOWN

Announcement that a Scranton man, George Mudhardt, for some time the deputy director of the Relief Works Division in Lackawanna county, has been appointed acting administrator for Lawrence county's RWD, effective at once, was made by Executive Director E. H. Robinson of the Lawrence County Emergency Relief board at noon today.

Succeeds Leathers
Mr. Mudhardt, expected here momentarily this afternoon, succeeds Carl L. Leathers, this city, who has been at the helm of the RWD program here since Administrator Louis B. Round submitted his resignation several months ago.

Along with the news of Mr. Mudhardt's appointment came word that James A. Close, a Mifflin county man, will assume the duties of resident engineer of the RWD which a New Castle man has performed for some time.

Director Robinson said Mr. Leathers will be assigned by the RWD to some other county. He did not know which one.

The appointments were made by Assistant State Director of the RWD, Frank Schmitt of Harrisburg.

Administration Down
With the change in directors here came the announcement that for one week, starting today, all administrative operations of the Works division will be idle, pending Acting Administrator Mudhardt's reorganization of his staff.

"The inside office will be idle for one week," Mr. Robinson pointed out, "to permit the new acting administrator to organize his personnel."

Nearly 20 or more office persons are directly affected by the RWD administration shutdown.

Attorney Thomas Buchanan Of Beaver County To Be In Charge Of New Election

The Pennsylvania state executive committee of the Democratic party, sitting as a hearing board in Harrisburg on Wednesday, formally annulled the recent election of County Register and Recorder William R. Hanna as Democratic county chairman here and ordered a new election for the chairmanship to be held under state committee auspices within the next 10 days.

Grant Annulment
The annulment was granted and the new vote ordered in the presence of nine members of the Dr. John A. Meehan faction which carried their vigorous protest of Hanna's election directly to Democracy's highest councils in the Keystone state.

On two claims the Dr. Meehan group based their protests and won a victory for themselves in persuading the state committee to sponsor another election. The two points of protests were these:

First: The voting of illegal proxies which gave the Hanna faction an advantage of 42 votes, according to the Meehan boosters.

Second: The unnecessary and unauthorized appointment by former chairman Horace F. Stone of committee members to fill nine vacancies.

Greeted by ideal picnic weather early in the afternoon, the crowd commenced to gather early. Shortly before 2 o'clock over 3,000 persons were present. In the midst of the afternoon program, a torrential rain put a temporary stop to activities. It lasted close to an hour. After Junior Fluyvis did his part in trying to spoil the occasion, it was only a matter of about another hour and a half before the park was the mecca of 5,000 Lawrence county residents.

One of the features of the program were the different athletic events. The pie eating contest and fiddle face contest proved most interesting. In the dancing contest, the following were awarded prizes: Carlioca, won by Miss Mary Ponzi of 1141 South Mill street and A. Res- (Continued On Page Eight)

ADMINISTRATIVE FORCE DOWN

Announcement that a Scranton man, George Mudhardt, for some time the deputy director of the Relief Works Division in Lackawanna county, has been appointed acting administrator for Lawrence county's RWD, effective at once, was made by Executive Director E. H. Robinson of the Lawrence County Emergency Relief board at noon today.

Succeeds Leathers
Mr. Mudhardt, expected here momentarily this afternoon, succeeds Carl L. Leathers, this city, who has been at the helm of the RWD program here since Administrator Louis B. Round submitted his resignation several months ago.

Along with the news of Mr. Mudhardt's appointment came word that James A. Close, a Mifflin county man, will assume the duties of resident engineer of the RWD which a New Castle man has performed for some time.

Director Robinson said Mr. Leathers will be assigned by the RWD to some other county. He did not know which one.

The appointments were made by Assistant State Director of the RWD, Frank Schmitt of Harrisburg.

Administration Down
With the change in directors here came the announcement that for one week, starting today, all administrative operations of the Works division will be idle, pending Acting Administrator Mudhardt's reorganization of his staff.

"The inside office will be idle for one week," Mr. Robinson pointed out, to permit the new acting administrator to organize his personnel.

CARROLLTON, Ill., Aug. 23.—In a peaceful country graveyard on the outskirts of this pretty little town where quiet has once more returned after its streets re-echoed to the din of the sorrowing multitude, Henry T. LONDON, Ont., Aug. 23.—Predictions of "momentary" arrests in the John S. Labatt kidnapping mystery have failed to materialize and the suspicion grew today that the Canadian police may not be as close on the heels of the men who "snatched" the wealthy brewer as the public has been led to believe.

For the past forty eight hours the dominion newspapers have been running front page stories purporting to contain "inside" information indicating that arrests were only a matter of hours. But the hours have passed and with them the "deadline" for the arrests. And still nobody has been taken into custody.

The police have at no time made any predictions or arrests. They have said nothing officially. They have worked strictly under cover as per orders from Attorney General A. W. Roebuck at Toronto. All the official talking has been done by Roebuck and his latest comment is regarded by some observers as significant. He said:

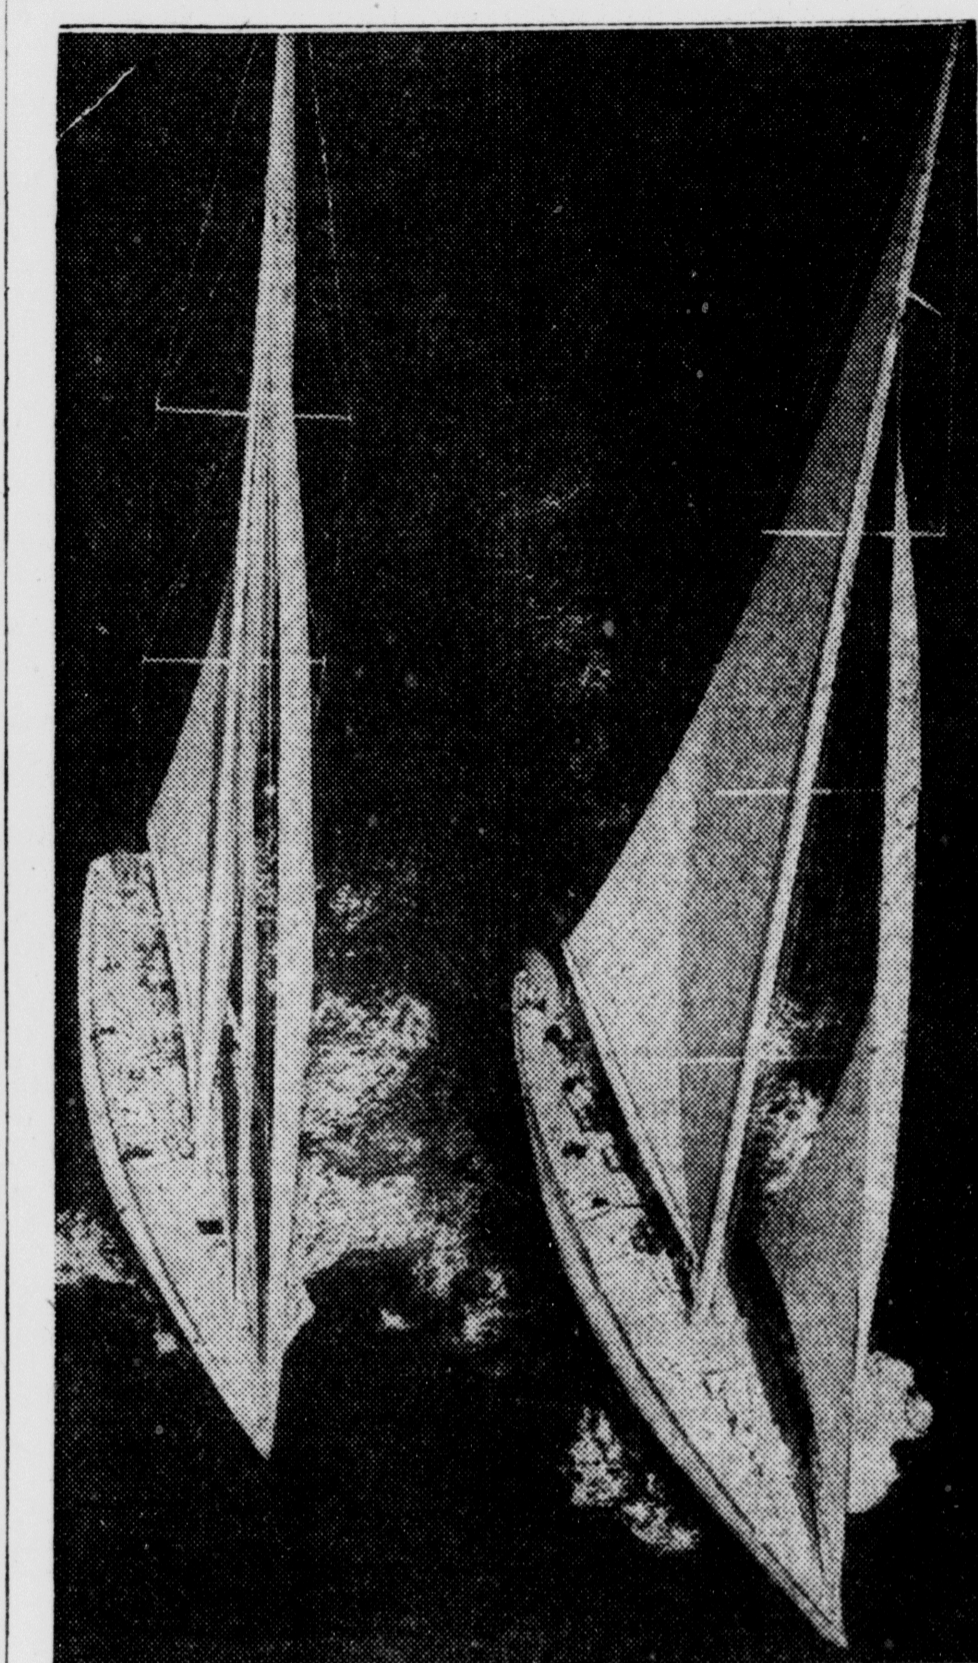

"The public will have to wait"—but he assured them that the Labatt kidnapping is no hoax.
A lot of loose talk has been bandied about as a result of the censorship imposed on Labatt who, as yet, has not talked to the press. The unrevealed facts in the case have set the public to talking. The attorney general is quoted as saying a rumor has been current that the kidnapping was a hoax, or an advertising stunt. This rumor is characterized as "childish" by Roebuck.

The only basis for the reports of "imminent" arrests has been the occasional bursts of activity in London by the mobilized forces of the Royal Canadian mounted police and the (Continued On Page Two)

The Pennsylvania state executive committee of the Democratic party, sitting as a hearing board in Harrisburg on Wednesday, formally annulled the recent election of County Register and Recorder William R. Hanna as Democratic county chairman here and ordered a new election for the chairmanship to be held under state committee auspices within the next 10 days.

The annulment was granted and the new vote ordered in the presence of nine members of the Dr. John A. Meehan faction which carried their vigorous protest of Hanna's election directly to Democracy's highest councils in the Keystone state.

On two claims the Dr. Meehan group based their protests and won a victory for themselves in persuading the state committee to sponsor another election. The two points of protests were these:

First: The voting of illegal proxies which gave the Hanna faction an advantage of 42 votes, according to the Meehan boosters.
Second: The unnecessary and unauthorized appointment by former chairman Horace P. Stone of committee members to fill nine vacancies.

BANDIT HUNT SPREADS TO PENNSYLVANIA

Reading Reports Suspicious Car At Gas Station

Give Attendant $10 In Quarters For Forty-eight Cent Bill And Ask For Paper

SEE MONEY BAGS ON CAR FLOOR

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The frantic hunt of police for the bandit gang that staged the daring $427,000 robbery of an armored truck in Brooklyn Tuesday, turned today to New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Somewhere in those two states were two powerful automobiles manned by swarthy complexioned men and containing money bags marked with the prints of the federal reserve bank.

Girls Accompany
Three fashionably dressed girls accompanied the occupants of one of the cars, a Cadillac sedan, which halted at a gasoline station in West Reading, Pa. The driver ordered three gallons of gasoline and one of the girls gave the attendant $10 in 25 cent pieces in payment of the 48-cent charges. At the same time requesting that the change be paid in bills.

The attendant noticed federal reserve money bags on the floor of the car and also reported seeing a case bulking with small coins.

In Ocean City, N. J., meanwhile an open Cadillac parked briefly in an open car parking space and an attendant observed two federal reserve bags lying on the floor.

Occupying the car were a hunchback and two companions who subsequently drove away in the direction of Haddonfield, N. J.

Police were frankly hopeful this morning that the two cars might contain some of the gang that perpetrated the daring holdup in the city's history.

An alarm sent out at the request of the Reading police read as follows:

"Be on the lookout for a dark blue, four door Cadillac sedan, about 1932 model bearing New York registration plates. There are two men and three women in car, men about 30 or 35 years of age, dark, wavy hair. Wearing dark clothes, appear to be Italians. The women about 20 or 25 years of age, apparently Americans. All are well dressed.

Noticed Handbag
"This car stopped at the Crew Levick gas station in West Reading.

PA, and asked for three gallons of gasoline. The attendant noticed a handbag on the floor of the car that contained a lot of pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters. The gas bill was forty-eight cents and one of the women gave a $10 bill of quarters in payment, receiving the change in bills. It is odd that they only purchased three gallons as the tank was nearly empty.

"It is believed that the occupants of this car may have been implicated in the $427,000 robbery in New York or some other robbery and are using this method to get rid of the change. The quarters were wrapped in an orange colored paper with the words 'Abbott Coin Counter, New York' Any information notify state police, Reading, Pa."

The alarm sent out from Ocean City said:

"Wanted for investigation. Be on lookout for a Cadillac or Packard sedan, New Jersey, registration unknown. Occupants are three Italians. One is a hunchback. These men parked their car in a parking lot in Ocean City, N. J., and attendant noticed in rear of car federal reserve bank money bags. Unable to tell if same were empty or if contained anything."

In New York police officials in charge of the hunt were considerably heartened by the news that the federal government had interested itself in the case.

Assistant Chief Inspector John J. Sullivan characterized the time as the best planned and most carefully executed robbery he had ever come in contact with in 30 years of service with the police department.

He places most of his hope for the apprehension of the bandits in the hope that there will be a dispute in the division of the spoils.

Scranton, Pa., Aug. 23.—Four men taken into custody here as suspects in connection with the $427,000 armored truck holdup in Brooklyn were imposed by a magistrate on a $1000 bond.

After several hours questioning police officials indicated they did not believe the men were connected with the holdup but sent their finger prints to Brooklyn police.

The men gave their names as Santo Marotta, 28; Nicholas Demotio, 21; Arthur Ciocone, 20, and Anthony Amato, 21, all of Brooklyn. They were apprehended driving into Scranton in a battered automobile, explaining they were seeking work.

Police said the men left Brooklyn about an hour after the holdup.

This reporter has made a conscientious attempt to verify some of the rumors going the rounds. Most of them are blithely characterized as "bunk" by investigating officials.

One officer playing an important role in the hunt candidly admitted the police do not know who the kidnapers are nor do they know where the gang is at present.

ORGANIZE LEAGUE TO FIGHT RADICAL GOVERNMENT STEPS

uphold the constitution of the United States, and to gather and disseminate information that (1) will teach the necessity of respect for the rights of persons and property as fundamental to every successful form of government, and (2) will teach the duty of government to encourage and protect individual and group initiative and enterprise, to foster the right to work, earn, save and acquire property, and to preserve the ownership and lawful use of property when acquired."

Purpose Of Doubt

Whether the league has been formed to combat Franklin D. Roosevelt's re-election to the presidency in 1936, or its merely to combat legislation that its sponsors feel to be "radical" and "socialistic," remains to be seen. Certainly, for the present, the latter is its aim. The future, that is 1936, will see what it will see.

It is widely known that Smith and Davis particularly have been out of sympathy with Roosevelt policies. Smith, in his writings, and Davis, in his speeches, have been in the forefront of the new deal philosophy as embodied in the AAA, the NRA and other alphabetical components of the Roosevelt soup. Republican conservatives have been no less concerned.

Also, business and corporate interests in both parties have been profoundly disturbed over "who is going to pay the bill" for the new deal experiments in the form of greatly increased taxes. They fear and believe that they are going to be elected.

The president and executive director of the American Liberty league is to be Donald Shouse, former executive chairman of the Democratic national committee until ousted by the Roosevelt forces at the Chicago convention. Shouse also was head of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, which was credited with yeoman work for repeal.

In Politics.

The league, under Shouse's direction, plans to conduct a campaign similar to that of the AAPA, organized by states, bringing influence to bear on members of congress against legislation deemed inimical to "personal or property rights," and ultimately to engage in politics to the extent of opposing or endorsing candidates, as did the AAPA, and as does the American Federation of Labor and American Legion now.

Because it is just getting organized, the league will take no part in the forthcoming November congressional elections.

As to 1936, when a president as well as a new congress is to be elected, that is another story.

"The league," said an announcement, "will become a real factor in assisting toward recovery and the restoration of prosperous conditions for all our people."

"It will take an active interest in and definite position on questions of legislation affecting economic and social problems. It will report to members and the public generally the conclusions reached as a result of its research and studies."

"It will cooperate with the president and the congress in securing such legislation as will accomplish constructive results."

There will be two classes of membership, Shouse said, one a general membership composed of those who believe in the league's general aims and policies, and a second membership "who in addition can render monetary help."

SPIRITED FIGHT AT CONVENTION IN PITTSBURGH

stallation ceremonies were to follow the closing convention session, opening this morning and at which United States Senator Arthur R. Robinson of Indiana was scheduled to speak.

Selection of the 1936 encampment city was voted held over until next year's meeting in Texas.

Resolutions were on record, pleading for greater national defense with particular emphasis to merchant marine and naval strength; urging federal, state and municipal governments give preference to Spanish War Veterans for public jobs, and denouncing Communist teachings demanding youth of the country be given every possible educational advantage and be kept free of propaganda.

Deposition of all aliens working against the constitution of the United States and a system of registration and identification of those in this nation were also demanded by the veterans in session.

Fervent criticism of the economy-ridden federal administration's curtailment of veterans' pensions rung through the convention hall late yesterday as judges, congressmen and senators addressed the encampment.

McCarren Speaks.

United States Senator Pat McCarren of Nevada, who headed the veterans' bonus fight in the last session of congress brought the veterans to wild and enthusiastic cheering in his stirring brief appeal for unity when he shouted:

"We didn't get all we wanted, but we're not through yet."

Veterans support for enactment of uniform state narcotic control laws was urged by Rear Admiral Richmond P. Hobson, hero of the Maricopa and the man who bottled the Spanish fleet in Santiago Harbor.

Yesterday's convention activities concluded last night with the annual snake parade of the G. O. U., a division of the U. S. A. W. V. in the native island garb of grass skirts, outlandish headgear, bolos, cribs and they presented a weird spectacle slithering through streets and hotel lobbies.

pass," he also said when praise comes to a recent statement made in Germany that Hitler is a better dictator than ever."

Hitler was properly elected but that "he proceeded to make himself ruler in all respects."

Probably everybody, the speaker presumed, would extol "general democracy" but the question arises all political democracy might be said to be government by the people, the multitude or the mass with a view to the common interest.

Abuses In Practice

The violations and the abuses in the practice of democracy, not by theory, were recalled and, in the closing portion, Dr. Regester asked:

"Are we going to avoid a dictatorship and how?"

Answering his own question he said that inevitably dictatorship passes to tyranny and that one lasting feature of democracy is "the constitution" which gives the provisions for changes in event changes should be desired.

The Kiwanians chose Friday evening, August 24 as the date for the convention, which they postponed last week after a cloudburst drenched their outing spot.

It will be held at the Marvin-Andrews camp along the Neshannock. Dinner was set for 6 p. m.

STATE DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE VOIDS HANNA'S ELECTION

Buchanan In Charge

While the state committee called for a new vote within 10 days and named Attorney Thomas Buchanan, of Beaver, member of the state committee from this district, to conduct it, no definite date for the election was set. Attorney Buchanan was authorized to call the meeting and to conduct it. He is expected to set a date soon.

It was back on June 25 that the Dr. Meehan organization, aroused by what they termed the "illegal" election of Hanna, filed their formal protests with the state executive committee and appended to State Chairman David L. Lawrence, of Pittsburgh, for a hearing.

Time elapsed but the committee assured the Meehan protesters that action was being delayed in the hopes that all state-wide protests might be considered at a hearing on one day. The election of the various county chairmen came and passed and, with protests from eight different counties before it, the state committee set yesterday for hearings.

Ten At Meeting

At Harrisburg for the committee session were nine Dr. Meehan backers and Dr. Meehan himself. The party, headed by Dr. Meehan, included: H. H. Noble, Carm G. Preston, Carl Hauffner, Charles Pickle, Harold Shaffer, Elmer D. O'Neill, Michael Bobbino, Miss Marguerite Uhl and Mrs. Agnes B. Howley.

Presiding when the Lawrence county representatives laid their protests before the state leaders was the state chairman, David L. Lawrence.

Recorder Hanna's telegram to Mr. Lawrence, expressing his inability to attend because of pressing official business, was read. It also carried Mr. Hanna's desire to have party harmony.

Only a short time was spent with the committee until it decided, on the basis of the Meehan group's written protests, to void Mr. Hanna's election and to order a new vote.

The Meehan faction said today that the committee, due to the question of the validity of the rules used by both sides in the recent turbulent balloting, ruled that state committee rules shall be abided by. They provide that only a registered Democrat can serve on the county committee and that to vote a proxy the one voting must be from the same ward as the one he represents. It also specified that only those committee members certified by the county commissioners as being duly elected on May 15 are eligible to vote.

The recent county committee vote, taken amidst an uproar of claims and counter claims, gave Hanna victory over Dr. Meehan, 98 to 74. The protested 48 votes, the Meehan faction contends, would give their man the chairmanship.

The Dr. Meehan element is said to represent the liberal group of the Democratic county committee.

The order which the state committee made, it was believed here, was a move to restore the harmony which shattered Lawrence county dispute arose, and was one of several similar moves made throughout the state.

The state committee is comprised of the state Democratic committee officers and two members from each of the 12 districts of the state. Representing the district beside Attorney Buchanan is Mrs. Warren Worth Bailey of Johnstown.

May Refuse Order

Whether the county committee as constituted at present will obey the mandate of the state committee is extremely doubtful. One prominent Democrat who was affiliated with the Hanna adherents during the recent county committee meeting, said "my advice to the committee officers will be to ignore the order entirely."

For the past seven years the State committee has been trying to run things out here and it is my opinion that Lawrence county Democrats are perfectly capable of operating committee."

County Chairman William H. Hanna did not know what course he would pursue in the matter. He formed that a new election had been ordered he said that he had received no official word on it and until he received such word he would be unable to make a statement.

REORGANIZATION OF NRA PROGRAM IS BEING STUDIED

was due in Washington late this afternoon.

Mr. Roosevelt grieved deeply at the death of his good friend and loyal supporter, Mr. Wallace, but today he sadly subordinated his grief to the pressing work of a nation's chief executive. He was up early, and hard at work, as his train rolled eastward.

Talks With Wallace.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace met the president in Gettysburg and accompanied him on the train today. The pair had a long chat, discussing the drought and other problems of agriculture.

Except for the time spent in conference with Mr. Wallace, the president devoted himself almost exclusively to whipping into shape final plans for NRA reorganization.

Recent conferences with Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson, NRA Counsel Donald R. Richberg and Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins got the job well under way, but when he left Washington there were several nettlesome problems involved in the new setup which the president hoped to solve.

Today the chief executive went over the work already done, and worked out such modifications as he cared to make.

To End Conference.

Conferences with recovery aides within the next 48 hours in Washington are expected to bring the NRA work to completion. Mr. Roosevelt will be in the capitol but two days before going to his Hyde Park, N. Y., home for an indefinite stay.

He wants to get the major portion of NRA work out of the way before leaving the capitol.

The president will leave Saturday for his Hyde Park home. White House aides will have the summer White House executive offices in Poughkeepsie, six miles from Hyde Park, ready for operation when the president arrives. There will be a number of important conferences in Hyde Park during the next few days of the executive's stay there.

Deaths of the Day

Mrs. Walter Porter

Mrs. Margaret Phillips Porter, aged 86, wife of Walter Porter, died at her home, East Shenango township, Mercer county, early this morning after a lingering illness.

Mrs. Porter was born in Lawrence county August 5, 1868, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Phillips. She had lived in the New Wilmington vicinity all her life and had a wide circle of friends who mourn her demise. Thirty-nine years ago she married Walter Porter, who survives with her three brothers, Frank Phillips of New Wilmington, George Phillips of Pittsburgh and Ernest Phillips of Alaska.

Funeral services will be conducted at two p. m. Saturday from the residence. Interment will be made in Neshannock cemetery, New Wilmington.

A. H. Fullerton Funeral.

Most impressive and comforting were the funeral services Wednesday afternoon for A. H. Fullerton, conducted at the family home in North Beaver township. The Rev. Ross M. Haverfield of Monongahela City, former pastor of the Westfield Presbyterian church, was the officiating clergyman, assisted by the Rev. Maxwell Cornelius of Pittsburgh, the Rev. George Nell of the Belhel U. P. church and the Rev. W. J. Esgel of Bessemer.

The house and large yard about the home were hardly adequate for the host of friends and neighbors who were paying their last respects to one who had been so close to them in life. The grangers and Kiwanis club were largely represented in the attendants.

Honorary pallbearers were John McSparran, secretary of agriculture of Harrisburg; John A. Leight, secretary of the Pennsylvania state grange; Henry Phillips, past assistant steward of the state grange; J. Audley Book, master of state grange; Philip H. Dewey, past master of Harrisburg, and John Hildebrand, Dras.

The active pallbearers, who bore him to his resting place in Westfield cemetery were three brothers, Sharp, Lee and Samuel Fullerton, his son, Jay Fullerton, son-in-law, Bert McCurley, and brother-in-law, Wylie Brewster.

John C. Marshall

John C. Marshall, the seven week old son of Mr. David and Gladys Vaughn Marshall, Rose Point, died in the Elwood City hospital at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday, August 22.

The little one is survived by his parents and grandparents, Mrs. John Marshall, Rose Point and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Vaughn, this city.

Funeral services will be held Friday, August 24, at 2 p. m. from the home with the Rev. Geo. Chaseman officiating. Interment will be made in the Fortersville Presbyterian cemetery.

transferred to another county and why out-of-county men are being assigned here, Director Robinson said "this is simply a reorganization which is being made in preparation for the new work relief program which is to be started in September." Latest dispatches say the plan will go into effect September 15.

No Drastic Changes.

Mr. Robinson indicated that there would be no drastic changes in the administrative and of the RWD and that the one-week lay-off notices went out to RWD workers to give Mr. Mudhardt better opportunity to arrange his organization.

There were no construction jobs in progress today so only the office force, classified as a work project, was affected by the suspension.

Mr. Mudhardt was expected to plunge into his new job at the CERB building, South Jefferson street, this afternoon.

The operations of the "direct" relief organization headed by Mr. Robinson will be conducted separately and apart from Mr. Mudhardt's "work" relief division the same as it has in the past.

BANDIT HUNT SPREADS TO PENNSYLVANIA

Give Attendant $10 In Quarters For Forty-eight Cent Bill And Ask For Paper

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The frantic hunt of police for the bandit gang that staged the daring $427,000 robbery of an armored truck in Brooklyn Tuesday, turned today to New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Somewhere in those two states were two powerful automobiles manned by swarthy complexioned men and containing money bags marked with the prints of the federal reserve bank.

Girls Accompany
Three fashionably dressed girls accompanied the occupants of one of the cars, a Cadillac sedan, which halted at a gasoline station in West Reading, Pa. The driver ordered three gallons of gasoline and one of the girls gave the attendant $10 in 25 cent pieces in payment of the 49-cent charges. At the same time requesting that the change be paid in bills.

The attendant noticed federal reserve money bags on the floor of the car and also reported seeing a case bulging with small coins.

In Ocean City, N. J., meanwhile an open Cadillac parked briefly in an open air parking space and an attendant observed two federal reserve bags lying on the floor.

Occupying the car were a hunchback and two companions who subsequently drove away in the direction of Hammonton, N. J.

Police were frankly hopeful this morning that the two cars might contain some of the gang that perpetrated the most daring holdup in the city's history.

An alarm sent out at the request of the Reading police read as follows:

"Be on the lookout for a dark blue, four door Cadillac sedan, about 1932 model bearing New York registration plates. There are two men and three women in car, men about 30 or 35 years of age, dark wavy hair. Wearing dark clothes, appear to be Italians. The women about 20 or 25 years of age, apparently Americans. All are well dressed.

Noticed Handbag
"This car stopped at the Crew Levick gas station in West Reading.

Pa., and asked for three gallons of gasoline. The attendant noticed a handbag on the floor of the car that contained a lot of pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters. The gas bill was forty-eight cents and one of the women gave a $10 roll of quarters in payment, receiving the change in bills. It is odd that they only purchased three gallons as the tank was nearly empty.

"It is believed that the occupants of this car may have been implicated in the $427,000 robbery in New York or some other robbery and are using this method to get rid of the change. The quarters were wrapped in an orange colored paper with the words 'Abbott Coin Counter, New York.' Any information notify state police, Reading, Pa."

The alarm sent out from Ocean City said:

"Wanted for investigation. Be on lookout for a Cadillac or Packard sedan, New Jersey, registration unknown. Occupants are three Italians. One is a hunchback. These men parked their car in a parking lot in Ocean City, N. J., and attendant noticed in rear of car federal reserve bank money bags. Unable to tell if same were empty or if contained anything."

In New York police officials in charge of the hunt were considerably heartened by the news that the federal government had interested itself in the case.

Assistant Chief Inspector John J. Sullivan characterized the crime as the best planned and most carefully executed robbery he had ever come in contact with in 30 years of service with the police department.

He places most of his hope for the apprehension of the bandits in the hope that there will be a dispute in the division of the spoils.

Sranton, Pa., Aug. 23.—Four men taken into custody here as suspects in connection with the $427,000 armored truck holdup in Brooklyn were in jail today in default of $10 fines imposed by a magistrate on vagrancy charges.

After several hours questioning police officials indicated they did not believe the men were connected with the holdup but sent their fingerprints to Brooklyn police.

The men gave their names as Santo Marotta, 26; Nicholas Demotio, 21; Arthur Ciccone, 20, and Anthony Amato, 21, all of Brooklyn. They were apprehended driving into Sranton in a battered automobile, explaining they were seeking work. Police said the men left Brooklyn about an hour after the holdup.

Police said Taborski also told them that three weeks ago he overheard three men plotting to bomb the Schoellkopf residence. In addition, they said that Taborski was the man who, three years ago, tipped them off to a plot to bomb the home during the wedding of the former Jasmine Schoellkopf Andre Boissier, Swiss riding master.

This reporter has made a conscientious attempt to verify some of the rumors going the rounds. Most of them are bluntly characterized as "bunk" by investigating officials.

Purpose Or Doubt

Whether the league has been conformed to combat Franklin D. Roosevelt's re-election to the presidency in 1936, or merely to combat legislation that its sponsors feel to be "radical" and "socialistic," remained to be seen. Certainly, for the present, the latter is its aim. The future, that is 1936, will see what it will see.

It is widely known that Smith and Davis particularly have been out of sympathy with Roosevelt policies. Buchanan In Charge

While the state committee called for a new vote within 10 days and named Attorney Thomas Buchanan of Beaver, member of the state committee from this district, to conduct it, no definite date for the election was set. Attorney Buchanan was authorized to call the meeting and to conduct it. He is expected to set a date soon.

It was back on June 25 that the Dr. Meehan organization, aroused by what they termed the "illegal" election of Hanna, filed their formal protests with the state executive committee and appealed to State Chairman David L. Lawrence, of Pittsburgh, for a hearing.

Time elapsed but the committee assured the Meehan protesters that action was being delayed in the hopes that all state-wide protests might be considered at a hearing on one day. The elections of the various county chairmen came and passed and, with protests from eight different counties before it, the state committee set yesterday for hearings.

Ten At Meeting

At Harrisburg for the committee session were nine Dr. Meehan backers and Dr. Meehan himself. The party, besides Dr. Meehan, included: H. H. Noble, Carl G. Preston, Carl Hauser, Charles Fickel, Harold Shaffer, Elmer D. O'Neill, Michael Bobbino, Miss Marguerite Uhl and Mrs. Agnes B. Howley.

Presiding when the Lawrence county representatives laid their protests before the state leaders was the state chairman, David L. Lawrence.

Recorder Hanna's telegram to Mr. Lawrence, expressing his inability to attend because of pressing official business, was read. It also carried Mr. Hanna's desire to have party harmony.

A. H. Fullerton Funeral.

Most impressive and comforting were the funeral services Wednesday afternoon for A. H. Fullerton, conducted at the family home in North Beaver township. The Rev. Ross M. Haverfield, of Monongahela City, former pastor of the Westfield Presbyterian church, was the officiating clergyman, assisted by the Rev. Maxwell Cornelius of Pittsburgh, the Rev. George Neill of the Bethel U. P. church and the Rev. W. J. Engel of Bessemer.

The house and large yard about the home were hardly adequate for the host of friends and neighbors who were paying their last respects to one who had been so close to them in life. The grangers and Kiwanis club were largely represented in the attendants.

Honorary pallbearers were John McSparran, secretary of agriculture of Harrisburg; John A. Leight, secretary of the Pennsylvania state grange; Henry Phillips, past assistant steward of the state grange; J. Audley Book, master of state grange; Philip H. Dewey, past master, of Harrisburg, and John Hildebrand, Dallas.

transferred to another county and why out-of-county men are being assigned here, Director Robinson said "this is simply a reorganization which is being made in preparation for the new work relief program which is to be started in September." Latest dispatches say the plan will go into effect September 15.

No Drastic Changes.

Mr. Robinson indicated that there would be no drastic changes in the administrative end of the FWD and that the one-week lay-off notices went out to RWD workers to give Mr. Mudhardt better opportunity to arrange his organization.

There were no construction jobs in progress today so only the office force, classified as a work project also, was affected by the suspension.

Mr. Mudhardt was expected to plunge into his new job at the CERB building, South Jefferson street, this afternoon.

The operations of the "direct" relief organization headed by Mr. Robinson will be conducted separately and apart from Mr. Mudhardt's "work" relief division the same as it has in the past.

HOW TO STAY WED

JUDGE Luther Z. Rosser of Atlanta, Ga., amicably adjusts about 2,000 potential divorce cases each year, and now the estimable jurist lays down seven rules for married couples which, he believes, will keep their ships of matrimony off the rocks.

"Never crush the pride of your marriage partner" is the admonition heading the list. He applies that to both husband and wife, along with two other rules for joint observance—"Be willing to compromise on little things" and "Cultivate interests in common and work together toward some definite goal."

The other stipulation, applying only to women, is "Remember, always, that at heart your husband is still a little boy."

Having found that much of the domestic unhappiness reaching his court is due to wounded pride, usually on the part of the wife, Judge Rosser regards the rule concerning that the most important of all.

Jurists who have seven, or two, or half a dozen rules for successful marriage come along regularly, it seems, and always get in the papers. It has never been disclosed that anyone pays much attention to them.

UP AND DOWN

For Dr. Beebe who goes down and Dr. Piccard and his disciples who go up the world should be grateful. From their bathysphere in the depths of the sea and their balloon in the stratospheric extremes of the air they have made all sorts of discoveries and had all sorts of adventures.

Most persons are not, of course, prepared to discuss the comparative merits of ascent and descent. The explorers of the stratosphere went higher—much higher—than Dr. Beebe was able to descend, but their balloons had more trouble and about all they found so close to heaven were a frigid temperature, a variety of rays and an assortment of atmospheric conditions.

Dr. Beebe's submerging, on the other hand, was like a visit to a new and infinitely exciting aquarium. Strange fish, phosphorescent alight, slithered by to amaze and delight the doctor, as inquisitive in their guest as he was in his "hosts"; one of them was 20 feet long, "probably the largest living thing ever seen in the deep sea." Nearly all were equipped with phosphorescent lighting systems, and were of the strangest shapes and sizes.

The whole business is immensely intriguing, and one hopes that Dr. Beebe will continue to go down, the Piccards at all will continue to go up and that someone will think of new worlds to conquer—and conquer them—to beguile a lagging fancy.

Mr. Clemens might never have made his famous remark about the weather if he had lived in Kansas City. There people are always talking about the weather and they are trying to do something about it, too. They are trying to show that Kansas City is not so hot as it is painted in the weather reports. The trouble is the weather bureau's thermometer located in the city's airport, which is about the hottest spot in town. Baking under the sizzling glare of the Midwestern sun, flanked by heat-reflecting concrete abutments and entirely free of trees or foliage, it supposedly boosts the mercury in the weather bureau thermometer two or three degrees higher than the actual temperature in town.

Kansas City deprecates this condition, and the newspapers there have launched an active campaign to have the thermometer moved to some more representative nook. At the latest reports the movement had enlisted about every civic organization from the cab drivers' union to the W. C. T. U., and it appeared that people (in Kansas City, anyhow) at last are disproving Mark Twain's familiar observation.

"With the United States," came the voice over the phone. "This is the President."

CAT ON THE DAVENPORT

That cat knows better. He knows he doesn't belong on the davenport. His place is on that chair by the door, not over there on that piece of furniture. . . . When he's sleeping on the chair, nobody ever disturbs him. That's his, and the human beings in the house recognize and respect his rights.

Then what is he doing on the davenport? And why does he look at us so suddenly when we come over and reproach him? And why does he meow so self-pityingly when we pick him up and drop him on the floor? And why does he slink away like an animal in the jungle?

I'll tell you why. He's mad at us. . . . We caught him on the dinner table, eating our food and we scolded him a little and drove him away. . . . Remembering, to be sure, that he is an independent animal and will eat our food and lick our butter and lap up our milk if we are not looking, and even respecting him for his untamable qualities—and not scolding him very noisily or even giving him a cuff. . . . But he's mad at us, nevertheless. He doesn't like us any more. We're mean. . . . So he walked away from us and looked around for something else to do. . . . And he decided that he'd go to sleep where he wasn't supposed ever to sleep. He'd snooze on our davenport, get hairs on it for once, and get his revenge.

And that's why that cat's on the davenport. . . . Just to be contrary.

Well, I don't feel so superior to that cat. He's not the only creature that ever got into trouble just through contrariness. I've been there, too, and so have you. . . . You've been in many a jam and wondered how on earth you got there. . . . You were going to be wise, clever, so broad-minded, so cool, so self-contained. And then you lost your temper, you felt abused, you felt mistreated, by life, by fate, by luck, by some other human being. . . . And you went sulky away and did something you knew was wrong. . . . You blew up and landed on the davenport of humiliation and defeat and misery. Made a mess of yourself, and hated the world for laughing at you. . . . I know how you felt. I know how I've felt, and I know just how that old cat on the davenport feels.

WHY TAKE CHANCES?

When in doubt, stop and listen. Motoring tips reveal many blind and unprotected crossings. If you are cautious and sensible, you will not take the chance of driving over a motorist's car at intersection without stopping your car and listening.

Very likely you merely slow down, then dash across.

Most crossing accidents are the result of such a procedure.

Another class of drivers slow down their cars to the lowest point in which they will run in "high".

This is a particularly dangerous practice.

If there are several tracks, it will require some time to pass over them.

If, when in such gear, a train is seen approaching, the natural thing to do is to press the accelerator with the result that the motor stalls.

Then a serious condition results.

Sometimes many crossing accidents which might be avoided with care.

You may have been driving for several years, so far avoiding accident, but carelessness may bring disaster to you.

LUCK

We hear a good deal about luck and the way it favors the other chaps day after day.

But whether it's fighting or fishing or working.

Good luck never favors the fellow who's shirking.

The "breaks," as they're called, beyond any denying.

Always go to the one who's earnestly trying.

I've noticed the fellow of spirit and pluck.

Is most, often reported to have all the luck.

But the sneer of derision I think would be fitter.

If luck ever favored an idler or quitter.

Now unto his credit this line I'm supplying.

Luck couldn't have helped if he hadn't kept trying.

The man who gives up in despair when he's stuck.

Can never expect any favors from luck.

All in vain is our sighing and hoping and wishing.

The luckiest fishermen have to keep fishing!

The truth is as simple as this bit of writing ink in some way.

Who would have luck must be out where the fighting is.

Early in the World War, a German grand duke issued a solemn warning to the United States, through U. S. Ambassador Gerard at Berlin, that this country had better keep out of the war.

"Germany is going to win this war—and then let America look out!" was the grand duke's ultimatum.

Ambassador Gerard asked how Germany was going to win. The grand duke mentioned all the means for attack and defense which Germany possessed. But the thing which would enable Germany to win in any case was her perseverance.

The World At A Glance

Drastic Cut In Hours May Come
Thirty-Hour Week Seen Destined
Unemployment Problem Attacked Anew

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The Roosevelt administration is rumored to be preparing drastic action in regard to unemployment. If it does not, congress will take still more drastic action.

In short, the Connery-Black 30-hour week bill was postponed by congress a year ago only on the promise of the administration that the NRA would "take care" of the unemployment situation.

The NRA has not.

Now, according to rumors, NRA codes will be revised to bring the work week down gradually from 40 hours to 30.

It is not impossible that more than 12 million men will be out of work this winter.

And it is not impossible, either, that the conservative group that now governs the American Federation of Labor will find itself powerless before an independent group.

Old-line A. F. of L. leaders declare the independents are Communists, but the independents threaten to sue anybody who calls them Communists.

An impartial survey of the nation and of national organizations probably would disclose that more and more persons will be elected who promise more and more to workers and farmers alike. Great multitudes will not put up with below subsistence incomes—or no incomes.

That is the reaction the president is believed to have gained since his return from Hawaii.

MOST POWERFUL?

President Roosevelt is guided (it seems to an observer) increasingly by Professor Raymond Moley, Secretary of Labor Perkins, Secretary of the Interior Jakes, Secretary of State Hull and—yes—General Johnson.

And they are increasingly apprehensive that unless the labor situation is quickly met now, there may be strife, unjustified charges, a stirring up of hatreds and prejudices and general confusion with democracy going by the boards and civil rights lost.

In such bitter contests between factions of the body politic, nobody wins, and the innocent are most likely to suffer, the administration spokesmen have asserted.

Not the administration hesitates to face some of the issues realistically. For example, in one respect, the administration refuses to see cause and effect. If money is depreciated and costs of all sorts rise, then how can either the employer or the employee make out? Certainly not by adding more costs.

ENGLAND'S NEXT ELECTION

England probably will have an election in a year.

Views seem even that labor will win. The Liberals are trying to merge with labor, but labor says the Liberals are dead.

If labor wins, England will veer to the left for the first time since the war. There has been an aggressive youth movement within the British Labor party. The Fascists also had a strong youth movement—but it declined when the English people expressed aversion to the Hitler "purge" and subsequently the alleged torture of Nazis by American fascists.

England proceeds carefully and cautiously in its reforms. A decline in business, due to world economic conditions, is looked for through the winter, however, and discontent is expected to rise with an election inevitable.

The World War Day-By-Day—Aug. 23, 1914—Namen, cornerstone of the whole Anglo-French strategy in the Belgian campaign, fell to the Germans. When its circle of detached forts had been demolished by the same siege guns which reduced Liege, some 12,000 Belgians in the garrison slipped out, just avoiding envelopment, and retreated south with the retreating French.

There would have been greater, perhaps decisive, German victories at Mons and Charleroi, had not six divisions and 500 guns been occupied in reducing the stubborn defenses at Namen. This detachment, added to that already left to guard at Antwerp, seriously weakened the German right wing during the critical hours when it sought to overwhelm the Allied left wing.

By the evening of the 23rd four French armies had been defeated on Belgium or German soil and were being into French territory. But the German thrusts had not been powerful enough and these armies will be able to fight again ever though they have suffered

"FRANK"

The telephone rang in the office of Secretary of Labor Perkins at Washington. Her secretary answered.

"This is Frank," said a voice. "May I talk to Miss Perkins?"

"This Frank," announced the assistant.

"Frank? I don't know any Frank," said Secretary Perkins.

"Ask him whom he's with."

The secretary did as instructed.

"With the United States," came the voice over the phone. "This is President."

CAT ON THE DAVENPORT

That cat knows better. He knows he doesn't belong on the davenport. His place is on that chair by the door, not over there on that piece of furniture. . . . When he's sleeping on the chair, nobody ever disturbs him. That's his, and the human beings in the house recognize and respect his rights.

Then what is he doing on the davenport? And why does he look at us so sullenly when we come over and reproach him? And why does he miaow so self-pityingly when we pick him up and drop him on the floor? And why does he sink away like an animal in the jungle?

I'll tell you why. He's mad at us. . . . We caught him on the dinner table, eating our food and we scolded him a little and drove him away. . . . Remembering, to be sure, that he is an independent animal and will eat our food and lick our butter and lap up our milk if we are not looking, and even respecting him for his unimpeachable qualities—and not scolding him very noisily or even giving him a cuff. . . . But he's mad at us, nevertheless. He doesn't like us any more. We're mean. . . . So he walked away from us and looked around for something else to do.

Something else we wouldn't like, and he decided that he'd go to sleep where he wasn't supposed ever to sleep. He'd snooze on our davenport, get hairs on it for once, and get his revenge.

And that's why that cat's on the davenport. . . . Just to be contrary.

Well, I don't feel so superior to that cat. He's not the only creature that ever got into trouble just through contrariness. I've been there, too, and so have you. . . . You've been in many a jam and wondered how on earth you got there. You were going to be wise.

clever, so broad-minded, so cool, so self-contained. And then you lost your temper, you felt abused, you felt mistreated, by life, by fate, by luck, by some other human being. . . . And you went sulkily away and did something you knew was wrong.

was silly. You blew up and landed on the davenport of humiliation and defiant absurdity. Made an ass of yourself, and hated the world for laughing at you. . . . I know how you felt. I know how I've felt, and I know just how that old cat on the davenport feels.

WHY TAKE CHANCES?

When in doubt, stop and listen. Motoring trips reveal many blind and unprotected crossings. If you are cautious and sensible, you will not take the chance of driving over a railroad crossing or intersection without stopping your car and listening.

Very likely you merely slow down, then dash across.

Most crossing accidents are the result of such a procedure.

Another class of drivers slow down their cars to the lowest point in which they will run in "high".

This is a particularly dangerous practice.

If there are several tracks, it will require some time to pass over them.

If, when in such gear, a train is seen approaching, the natural thing to do is to press the accelerator with the result that the motor stalls.

Then a serious condition results. Summer brings many crossing accidents which might be avoided with care.

You may have been driving for several years, so far avoiding accident, but carelessness may bring disaster any day.

Drastic Cut In Hours May Come
Thirty-Hour Week Seen Destined
Unemployment Problem Attacked Anew

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The Roosevelt administration is rumored to be preparing drastic action in regard to unemployment. If it does not, congress will take still more drastic action.

In short, the Connery-Black 30-hour week bill was postponed by congress a year ago only on the promise of the administration that the NRA would "take care" of the unemployment situation.

The NRA has not.

Now, according to rumors, NRA codes will be revised to bring the work week down gradually from 40 hours to 30 hours.

It is not impossible that more than 12 million men will be out of work this winter.

And it is not impossible, either, that the conservative group that now governs the American Federation of Labor will find itself powerless before an independent group.

Old-line A. F. of L. leaders declare the independence of the communists, but the independents threaten to use anybody who calls them Communists.

An impartial survey of the nation and of national organizations probably would disclose that more and more persons will be elected who promise more and more to workers and farmers alike. Great multitudes will not put up with below subsistence incomes—or no incomes. That is the reaction the president is believed to have gained since his return from Hawaii.

MOST POWERFUL? President Roosevelt is guided (it seems to an observer) increasingly by Professor Raymond Moley, Secretary of Labor Perkins, Secretary of the Interior Ickes, Secretary of State Hull and—yes—General Johnson.

And they are increasingly apprehensive that unless the labor situation is quickly met, there may be strife, unjustified charges, a stirring up of hatreds and prejudices and general confusion with democracy going by the boards and civil rights lost.

In such bitter contests between factions of the body politic, nobody wins, and the innocent are most likely to suffer. The administration spokesmen have asserted.

Yet the administration hesitates to face some related issues realistically. For example, in one respect it stubbornly refuses to see the effect of money in deprecating and cutting off all sorts of work, then how can the employer or the employee make out? Certainly not by adding more costs.

ENGLAND'S NEXT ELECTION? England probably will have an election in a year.

Views seem even that labor will win the election, but labor says the Liberals are dead.

If labor wins, England will veer to the left, for there has been an aggressive youth movement within the British Labor party. The Fascists also had a strong youth movement, but it declined when the English people expressed aversion to the Hitler "purge" and subsequently the alleged torture of Nazis by Austrian Fascists.

England proceeds carefully and cautiously in its reforms. A decline in business, due to world economic conditions, is looked for through the winter, however, and discontent is expected to rise, with an election inevitable.

TODAY Is The Day

By CLARK KINNAIRD Copyright 1934 Central Press

THURSDAY, AUG. 23

The World War Day-By-Day—Aug. 23, 1914—Namur, cornerstone of the whole Anglo-French strategy in the Belgian campaign, fell to the Germans. When its circle of detached forts have been demolished by the same siege guns which reduced Liege, some 12,000 Belgians in the garrison slipped out, just avoiding envelopment and retreated south with the retreating French.

There would have been greater, perhaps decisive, German victories at Mons and Charleroi, had not six divisions and 500 guns been occupied in reducing the stubborn defenses at Namur. This detachment, added to that already left to stand guard at Antwerp, seriously weakened the German right wing during the critical hours when it sought to overwhelm the Allied left wing.

By the evening of the 23rd four French armies had been defeated on Belgian or German soil and driven back into French territory, but the German thrusts had not been powerful enough and these armies will be able to fight again even though they have suffered routs or lost considerable battles in the Ardennes, at Morhazee (Metz), at Sarrebourg, at Charleroi.

The whole Allied line was now in retreat, for the British had met sharp reverse at Mons. They had narrowly escaped being flanked when moved up.

The Allied outlook was dark indeed. But through a rift in the clouds the rising sun of Japan showed itself.

The Japs declared war on Germany on this date and began the bombardment of its prized Chinese possession and Far Eastern base, Tsing-tau.

Great Days—Aug. 23, 1305—Scott hero William Wallace, 35, was formally hanged, dismembered, beheaded and quartered. The quarters were sent to four different towns in Scotland to show Highlanders who had aided and abetted Wallace's uprising against the British what they might expect from their cousins.

Aug. 23, 1500—Christopher Columbus and his brothers were arrested in Hispaniola (Haiti) upon the order of the governor, Francisco de Bobadilla, and thrown into chains to await transportation to Spain for trial on charges of severity, injustice and venality.

Aug. 23, 1784—John Sevier was elected governor of Frankland, later Franklin, the state that most Americans do not know ever existed. It was carved out of North Carolina, became in time part of Tennessee, of which Sevier also was first governor.

Aug. 23, 1821—Mexico won her independence from Spain, an elected Augustin Iturbide president. He promptly made himself emperor and Even if plain distribution of wealth were desired, critics ask, what would be the benefit if the employee had to give up all his increased increment and more, too, in order to live?

It works out, however, even more disadvantageously than that. Cheapening money not only raises costs, but it frightens investors and it makes the whole world of trade nervous. Thus jobs disappear—and men hopelessly roam the streets, in more despair than ever.

ESCAPE CODES? Large steel companies, ordered by the National Steel Labor board to enter into collective bargaining with a regular steel workers union (not a company union) threatened to drop the steel code.

In that manner the steel companies believed they would not have to comply with Section 7-A, compelling collective bargaining. They simply are not doing that prior to June 19. On that date, however, congress wrote collective bargaining into law through a joint congressional resolution. The president then created the steel labor board to enforce the law.

Concerning that, Secretary of Labor Perkins has this to say: "A lack of understanding generally of Section 7-A of the NRA, providing for the right to bargain collectively, has contributed to present labor troubles. . . .

HOW TO STAY WED

Judge Luther Z. Rosser of Atlanta, Ga., amicably adjusts about 2,000 potential divorce cases each year, and now the estimable jurist lays down seven rules for married couples which, he believes, will keep their ships of matrimony off the rocks.

"Never crush the pride of your marriage partner" is the admonition heading the list. He applies that to both husband and wife, along with two other rules for joint observance—"Be willing to compromise on little things" and "Cultivate interests in common and work together toward some definite goal."

Three of the rules apply to husbands only. They are: "Tell your wife the truth about your financial situation." "Pay her compliments now and then." "Make a definite move toward developing and maintaining real companionship."

The other stipulation, applying only to women, is "Remember, always, that at heart your husband is still a little boy."

Having found that much of the domestic unhappiness reaching his court is due to wounded pride, usually on the part of the wife, Judge Rosser regards the rule concerning that the most important of all.

Jurists who have seven, or two, or half a dozen rules for successful marriage come along regularly, it seems, and always get in the papers. It has never been disclosed that anyone pays much attention to them.

UP AND DOWN

For Dr. Beebe who goes down and Dr. Piccard and his disciples who go up the world should be grateful. From their bathysphere in the depths of the sea and their balloon in the stratospheric extremities of the air they have made all sorts of discoveries and had all sorts of adventures.

Most persons are not, of course, prepared to discuss the comparative merits of ascent and descent. The explorers of the stratosphere went higher—much higher—than Dr. Beebe was able to descend, but their balloons had more trouble and about all they found so close to heaven were a frigid temperature, a variety of rays and an assortment of atmospheric conditions.

Dr. Beebe's submarining, on the other hand, was like a visit to a new and infinitely exciting aquarium. Strange fish, phosphorescently alight, slithered by to amaze and delight the doctor, as interested in their guest as he was in his "hosts"; one of them was 20 feet long, "probably the largest living thing ever seen in the deep sea." Nearly all were equipped with prospecting lighting systems, and were of the strangest shapes and sizes.

The whole business is immensely intriguing, and one hopes that Dr. Beebe will continue to go down, the Piccards et al will continue to go up and that someone will think of new worlds to conquer—and conquer them—to beguile a lagging fancy.

Mr. Clemens might never have made his famous remark about the weather if he had lived in Kansas City. There people are always talking about the weather and they are trying to do something about it, too. They are trying to show that Kansas City is not so hot as it is painted in the weather reports. The trouble is the weather bureau's thermometer located in the city's airport, which is about the hottest spot in town. Baking under the sizzling glare of the Midwestern sun, flanked by heat-reflecting concrete abutments and entirely free of trees or foliage, it supposedly boosts the mercury in the weather bureau thermometer two or three degrees higher than the actual temperature in town.

Kansas City deplores this condition, and the newspapers there have launched an active campaign to have the thermometer moved to some more representative nook. At the latest reports the movement had enlisted about every civic organization from the cab drivers' union to the W. C. T. U., and it appeared that people (in Kansas City, anyhow) at last are disproving Mark Twain's familiar observation.

MISDIRECTED PERSEVERANCE. Early in the World War, a German grand duke issued a solemn warning to the United States, through U. S. Ambassador Gerard at Berlin, that this country had better keep out of the war. "Germany is going to win this war—and then let America look out!" was the grand duke's ultimatum.

Ambassador Gerard asked how Germany was going to win. The grand duke mentioned all the means for attack and defense which Germany possessed. But the thing which would enable Germany to win in any case was her perseverance. Perseverance, said the grand duke, will always win.

The World At A Glance

Drastic Cut In Hours May Come
Thirty-Hour Week Seen Destined
Unemployment Problem Attacked Anew

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The Roosevelt administration is rumored to be preparing drastic action in regard to unemployment. If it does not, congress will take still more drastic action.

In short, the Connery-Black 30-hour week bill was postponed by congress a year ago only on the promise of the "take care" of the NRA would "take care" of the unemployment situation.

The NRA has not. Now, according to rumors, NRA codes will be revised to bring the work week down gradually from 40 hours to 30 hours.

It is not impossible that more than 12 million men will be out of work this winter.

And it is not impossible, either, that the conservative group that now governs the American Federation of Labor will find itself powerless before an independent group. Old-line A. F. of L. leaders declare, but the independents are Communists, but the independents threaten to sue anybody who calls them Communists.

An impartial survey of the nation and of national organizations probably would disclose that more and more persons will be elected who promise more and more to workers and farmers alike. Great multitudes will not put up with below subsistence incomes—or no incomes. That is the reaction the president is believed to have gained since his return from Hawaii.

MOST POWERFUL

President Roosevelt is guided (it seems to an observer) increasingly by Professor Raymond Moley, Secretary of Labor Perkins, Secretary of the Interior Ickes, Secretary of State Hull and—yes—General Johnson.

And they are increasingly apprehensive that unless the labor situation is quickly met now, there may be strife, unjustified charges, a stirring up of hatreds and prejudices and general confusion with democracy going by the boards and civil rights lost.

In such bitter contests, nobody wins, and the innocent are most likely to suffer, the administration spokesmen have asserted.

Yet the administration hesitates to face some related issues realistically. For example, in one respect (critics of the administration point out) it stubbornly refuses to see cause and effect. If money is devalued and costs of all sorts rise, then how can either the employer or the employee make out? Certainly not by adding more costs.

There would have been greater success had there been greater appreciation of the fact that the legislature was not in session.

Combine these and a hundred other ingredients by the use of initiative, research, invention, experience.

That is the prescription for the construction of America's Bell telephone plant—the switchboards, vacuum tubes, wires, telephones, cables, coils, relays, jacks, plugs, batteries and a thousand and one other ingenious, intricate mechanisms.

But that is not telephone service.

Without the human touch the telephone system is an orderly but inanimate mass of complex equipment.

The quality of America's telephone service is the highest in the world because of the skill, the training, the efficiency, the courtesy, the initiative and the experience of the people who operate the high quality equipment.

THERE is something more in Bell service. It is the desire to serve—the spirit of service—on the part of the men and women of the Bell organization.

This desire has grown with the service. It is evident in the tone of voice, the general attitude of the telephone worker. It is seen in the action of the operator who sticks to her post in the face of danger, in the matter of fact manner of the repairman who faces the elements that "the service may go on". ADD: "THE SPIRIT OF SERVICE"

COMBINE large quantities of copper, iron, lead; add some carbon, nickel, aluminum, wool, cotton, silk; then a little silver and a trace of gold—

Combine these and a hundred other ingredients by the use of initiative, research, invention, experience.

That is the prescription for the construction of America's Bell telephone plant—the switchboards, vacuum tubes, wires, telephones, cables, coils, relays, jacks, plugs, batteries and a thousand and one other ingenious, intricate mechanisms.

But that is not telephone service.

Without the human touch the telephone system is an orderly but inanimate mass of complex equipment.

The quality of America's telephone service is the highest in the world because of the skill, the training, the efficiency, the courtesy, the initiative and the experience of the people who operate the high quality equipment.

THERE is something more in Bell service. It is the desire to serve—the spirit of service—on the part of the men and women of the Bell organization.

This desire has grown with the service. It is evident in the tone of voice, the general attitude of the telephone worker. It is seen in the action of the operator who sticks to her post in the face of danger, in the matter of fact manner of the repairman who faces the elements that "the service may go on." It has become a tradition in the telephone industry.

America leads in telephone service. This leadership will continue while initiative remains a dominant American characteristic. We continue to urge, in the American manner, a broader use of the service.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA

Associated with the Bell System—participating in and benefiting from the telephone research, telephone development and nationwide telephone experience which have given America the world leadership in telephone service.

Film 'Prop' Men Win Praise Of English Comic

(International News Service)
TUCSON, Ariz., Aug. 23.—Hollywood's "prop" men took Douglas Wakefield, noted English comedian, by storm.

"Give them a half hour and they can get anything under the sun," declared the drawler of cheerios who is stopping here before continuing to London. "It doesn't matter whether it's a Sahara desert, a hundred whales or a couple of nudists, they can find them quicker than I can reach under the bed after my collar button."

"That's the reason American pictures are so much better than most of the British ones. Hollywood can supply anything on a moment's notice. Take the casting offices. They can get a thousand Indians or a couple hundred African savages in a few minutes while the same job would take European studios weeks and perhaps months."

Wakefield has just finished a series of comedies for Hal Roach.

According to recent psychological conceptions, a dream is a sort of wish-fulfillment.

Hoon carried home with him a certificate of disability discharge.

A Javanese bride rubs her face with saffron to intensify the golden color of her skin. Her hair is shaved in elaborate points and, instead of a misty coronet of tulle and orange blossoms she wears a sort of crown made of gold leaf.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Moore and daughters, S. W. Moore and family, of Franklin, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Will Cunningham on Sunday.

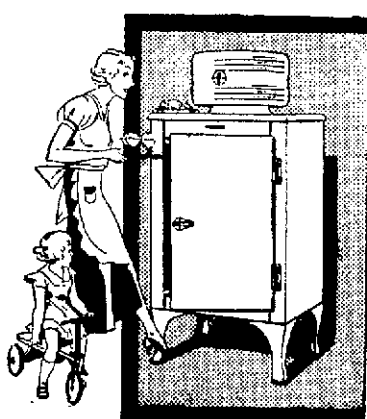

Dr. John Shupe and daughter, Alice, of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. L. Roberts, and Mr. Harris of New Castle, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gardner on Friday.

Friends and neighbors pleasantly surprised Dick Friend, and his fiancée who is visiting at the home of his parents. Quite a few were in attendance. A social time was enjoyed by all. During the evening refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by her aides.

Frigidaire alone offers
in electric refrigeration

Centrally Located Freezer
Automatic Ice Tray Releasing
Automatic Reset Defrosting

THE NEW "SUPER FREEZER"

With the Super Freezer, Frigidaire makes electric refrigeration more convenient and more truly automatic. For example: when you need ice cubes, you simply press a lever and the trays slide right out. It's impossible for them to stick.

Then there's the matter of defrosting. All you do is flip a switch. When defrosting is completed your Frigidaire starts automatically.

Perhaps you have a large number of bottles to cool. You'll find plenty of room for all of them on both sides of the centrally located freezer. And the Frigidaire Super Freezer keeps uniformly low temperatures throughout the food compartment.

The Frigidaire '34 is equipped with the Super Freezer at no added cost to you. Its adoption as standard equipment is in keeping with the policy that has established Frigidaire's leadership and made it the choice of one and a quarter million more buyers than any other make of electric refrigerator.

And since the introduction of the new Frigidaire '34, more household Frigidaires have been sold than in any other similar period in Frigidaire history!

Come in today and see this new development. Learn for yourself why so many thousands are proudly saying:

First Of All—The fourth president of the United States was the first to wear trousers. Washington, the elder Adams and Jefferson wore breeches during their administration as did all their fellow citizens. After trousers were adopted by the French during their revolution to distinguish them from the aristocrats in breeches, many Americans adopted trousers in sympathy. President Madison made the style official for dress occasion, and that was the end of breeches until golf came along.

First Of All—The fourth president of the United States was the first to wear trousers. Washington, the elder Adams and Jefferson wore breeches during their administration as did all their fellow citizens. After trousers were adopted by the French during their revolution to distinguish them from the aristocrats in breeches, many Americans adopted trousers in sympathy. President Madison made the style official for dress occasion, and that was the end of breeches until golf came along.

Frigidaire alone offers
in electric refrigeration

Centrally Located Freezer
Automatic Ice Tray Releasing

THE NEW "SUPER FREEZER"

With the Super Freezer, Frigidaire makes electric refrigeration more convenient and more truly automatic. For example: when you need ice cubes, you simply press a lever and the trays slide right out. It's impossible for them to stick.

Then there's the matter of defrosting. All you do is flip a switch. When defrosting is completed your Frigidaire starts automatically.

Perhaps you have a large number of bottles to cool. You'll find plenty of room for all of them on both sides of the centrally located freezer. And the Frigidaire Super Freezer keeps uniformly low temperatures throughout the food compartment.

The Frigidaire '34 is equipped with the Super Freezer at no added cost to you. Its adoption as standard equipment is in keeping with the policy that has established Frigidaire's leadership and made it the choice of one and a quarter million more buyers than any other make of electric refrigerator.

And since the introduction of the new Frigidaire '34, more household Frigidaires have been sold than in any other similar period in Frigidaire history!

Come in today and see this new development. Learn for yourself why so many thousands are proudly saying:

Jubilee Of Oil Celebration To Open August 24

Titusville To Relive The Days Of Col. Drake And
The Oil Discovery

SECRETARY ICKES IS PRINCIPAL SPEAKER

By A. C. MacINTYRE
International News Service Special Correspondent.

TITUSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 23.—Titusville residents today were hurriedly adding the last minute touches to the holiday attire which decks this little oil creek valley town for the greatest event in its history—the Jubilee of Oil.

In this bustling rush came flocking visitors for the four-day celebration, former residents to renew acquaintances and old-time residents whose memories stretch back almost to the days of the "oil excitement".

The observation begins on Friday and extends through to Monday night when a fireworks display will conclude the event after the high spot of the observance on Monday afternoon, the formal dedication of the Drake Well Memorial park, a state park.

Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior and oil administrator, will deliver the principal speech after Axel J. Byles, president of the American Petroleum Institute, presents the park to the state. Gov. Gifford Pinchot will accept it for the state.

The presiding officer will be Gov. George White of Ohio, who like Byles, is a native son of Titusville. The distinguished guests will be welcomed by Mayor Arthur G. Belen of Titusville and the invocation will be delivered by Dr. Samuel Semple, pastor emeritus of the Titusville Presbyterian church. The great and near-great of the oil industry will be here for the event.

Paroled Convict Held By Police At Pittsburgh

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23.—Charged with luring Ellen Meek, 16, from her Trenton, N. J. home and larceny of an automobile in which the pair fled to Defiance, O., Thomas Smith, 25, Clayton, N. J., paroled convict, was held here today with the girl pending investigation.

Paroled on an automobile theft charge from Western Penitentiary last May 29, Smith is alleged to have gone to his father's home, stolen a 1932 Ford, and driven it to an adjoining farm and induced her to accompany him on an intended trip to Texas.

Funeral Directors Are In Session

(International News Service)

CONNEAUT LAKE PARK, Pa., Aug. 23.—The Western Pennsylvania Funeral Directors' Association moved its annual convention to a climax today after hearing Professor William J. Collier of the American Academy of Embalming, New York, propound the technique of injecting the maxillary arteries of the body as a new value to their vocation.

No More Piles

Doctor's Prescription Guaranteed

Thousands of Pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

This is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give lasting relief, why cutting does not remove the cause.

Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause. External treatments can't do this—an internal medicine should be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard, sold by good druggists everywhere, because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the affected parts.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Ectoderm Cut Rate and New Castle Drug Co. invite every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee money-back if not joyfully satisfied with the help one bottle gives.

At supper time every nook and corner in the grove was occupied by the hungry picnicers, who did justice to a prodigious amount of food and coffee. J. S. Shriver, E. C. Hatcher and R. E. Wiese of Breakfast Chaser company of Pittsburgh dispensed close to 35,000 cups of coffee during supper time.

Program Continued.

The program was continued at the bandstand in the park where $250 worth of various foodstuffs was given away. During the day the committee gave away over 100 baskets loaded with various groceries. The chief diversion of the evening was dancing at Rainbow Terrace. The pavilion attracted a capacity crowd.

As the crowd commenced to wend homeward late in the evening their appearances gave one the idea that one of the most enjoyable days of the summer months had been spent. From every standpoint the outing was successful.

Despite the large crowd, no serious accidents occurred to mar the day's program. The picnic was one that will be remembered for months to come.

Probe Slaying Of Tavern Head

Nate Siegel, Former Boxing
Champion, Is Killed By Gangsters Near Hamilton, Mass.

(International News Service)

HAMILTON, Mass., Aug. 23.—Investigation into the gangland slaying of Nate Siegel, former boxing champion and Revere Tavern proprietor, turned to this town today with the discovery of bullet-torn and blood-stained clothing. Siegel was killed in his home on Aug. 6.

The clothing consisted of a cheap sweater and an undershirt wrapped in a blanket. They were covered with fresh blood, the shoulder of the shirt and sweater had been torn by a bullet.

Authorities expressed the opinion that the clothing may have been worn by a victim in an aftermath to the Siegel slaying, the first outbreak of a predicted gang war. Reports reached state detectives probing the slaying that both the "finger man" and the "trigger man" were known and were on the "spot."

The clothing was discovered on Main street where it was tossed from a speeding automobile headed in the direction of Maine. It was in Portland, Me., that the automobile used by the Siegel slayers was registered under a fictitious name. A sawed-off shotgun was found on the floor of the car.

Former Local Man Seriously Injured

Two Members Of Party Returning From World's Fair Are Killed

Michael Zamalis, a former New Castle resident, now of Vandergrift, Pa., is in a critical condition in the South Side hospital, Youngstown, Ohio, the result of an automobile collision on the Akron-Youngstown road, five miles west of Youngstown, on Wednesday night.

Gus Pazekas, 45, and James Miller, 16, of Vandergrift, who were in the same machine with Mr. Zamalis, were fatally wounded. George Saitlis, 18, Anthony Miller, 25, and the former local resident, who were returning from Chicago where they visited the Century of Progress, were seriously injured. Their conditions were described as critical this afternoon, a Youngstown report stated.

Edward Simko, 24, of Cleveland, the driver of the other vehicle which crashed with the car in which the party of five men was riding in, received minor injuries.

Amy Mollison On Transport Plane

Pilots' London To Paris Channel Plane In Blinding Rainstorm

(International News Service)

PARIS, Aug. 23.—Completing her first flight as regularly employed pilot on the London-Paris cross-channel service, Amy Mollison, famous British aviatrix, landed at Le Bourget in a blinding rainstorm this afternoon.

She was 42 minutes late, the delay being attributed to unfavorable weather on the channel route.

She accepted the job, she said, to help train herself for the coming race to Melbourne, Australia, in which the world's great distance pilots will participate.

Oldest Twin In Country Is Dead

(International News Service)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 23.—The last survivor of America's oldest twins died here today.

She was Mrs. Henrietta Dannenbaum, 101, who celebrated her 100th birthday.

Death came quietly as the aged woman slept in her hotel suite.

SIMPLE CEREMONY MARKS SERVICES FOR DEAD SPEAKER

Henry Rainey himself would scarcely have recognized it, came to pay their respects to a kind neighbor as well as a great statesman.

The funeral services were impressive but simple, as he would have wanted them to be.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Senator Dieterich and Governor Horner and a few relatives of the Rainey family sat in the flower-banked parlor of the Rainey home. Bishop John Chanler White of the Episcopal church stood in the hall near the statue facing the room where the ailing speaker rested and read the funeral service.

President Roosevelt did not accompany the body to the cemetery, but returned to his special train for the return to Washington after staying a little more than two hours.

Six pallbearers, all Carrollton friends of Speaker Rainey, two farmers, two bankers, a lawyer and a garage owner, bore him to his final resting place.

Philip A. Vogelmann, director of the color fashion bureau of a prominent silk concern, prophesies that greens in rich tree shades, olive and bluish greens will be important for fall. Dr. Joseph Jastrow, famous psychologist, says green is the color of plenty.

TITUSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 23.—Titusville residents today were hurriedly adding the last minute touches to the holiday attire which decks this little oil creek valley town for the greatest event in its history—the Jubilee of Oil.

In this bustling rush came flocking visitors for the four-day celebration, former residents to renew acquaintances and old-time residents whose memories stretch back almost to the days of the "oil excitement" to find a transformer city decked out in bunting and flags and the "official" banner, a drawing of Drake's boarded up derrick.

The observance begins on Friday and extends through to Monday night when a fireworks display will conclude the event after the high spot of the observance on Monday afternoon, the formal dedication of the Drake Well Memorial park, a state park.

Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior and oil administrator, will deliver the principal speech after Axtell J. Byler, president of the American Petroleum Institute, presents the park to the state. Gov. Gifford Pinchot will accept it for the state. The presiding officer will be Gov. George White of Ohio, who like Byler, is a native son of Titusville. The distinguished guests will be welcomed by Mayor Arthur G. Belier of Titusville and the invocation will be delivered by Dr. Samuel Semple, pastor emeritus of the Titusville Presbyterian church. The great and near-great of the oil industry will be here for the event.

Doctor's Prescription Guaranteed

Thousands of Pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

This is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give lasting relief, why cutting does not remove the cause.

Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause. External treatments can't do this—an internal medicine should be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard, sold by good druggists everywhere, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the affected parts.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Ecker's Cut Rate and New Castle Drug Co. invite every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if not joyfully satisfied with the help one bottle gives.

At supper time every nook and corner in the grove was occupied by the hungry picnickers, who did justice to a prodigious amount of food and coffee. J. S. Shriver, E. C. Hatcher and R. E. Wiese of Breakfast Cheer company of Pittsburgh dispensed close to 35,000 cups of coffee during supper time.

Program Continued.
The program was continued at the bandstand in the park where $250 worth of various foodstuffs was given away. During the day the committee gave away over 100 baskets loaded with various groceries. The chief diversion of the evening was dancing at Rainbow Terrace. The pavilion attracted a capacity crowd.

As the crowd commenced to wend homeward late in the evening their appearances gave one the idea that one of the most enjoyable days of the summer months had been spent. From every standpoint the outing was successful.

Despite the large crowd, no serious accidents occurred to mar the day's program. The picnic was one that will be remembered for months to come.

Oldest Twin In Country Is Dead

(International News Service)
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 23.—The last survivor of America's oldest twins died here today.

She was Mrs. Henrietta Dannenbaum. Last January 16 she celebrated her 100th birthday.

Death came quietly as the aged woman slept in her hotel suite.

Henry Rainey himself would scarcely have recognized it, came to pay their respects to a kind neighbor as well as a great statesman.

The funeral services were impressive but simple, as he would have wanted them to be.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Senator Dieterich and Governor Horner and a few relatives of the Rainey family sat in the flower-bedecked parlor of the Rainey home.

Bishop John Chamer White of the Episcopal church stood in the hall near the stairs facing the room where the casket rested and read the funeral service.

President Roosevelt did not accompany the body to the cemetery, but returned to his special train for the return to Washington after staying a little more than two hours.

Probe Slaying Of Tavern Head

Nate Siegel, Former Boxing
Champion, Is Killed By Gangsters Near Hamilton, Mass.

(International News Service)

HAMILTON, Mass., Aug. 23.—Investigation into the gangland slaying of Nate Siegel, former boxing champion and Revere Tavern proprietor, turned to this town today with the discovery of bullet-torn and blood-stained clothing. Siegel was killed in his home on Aug. 6.

The clothing consisted of a cheap sweater and an undershirt wrapped in a blanket. They were covered with fresh blood, the shoulder of the shirt and sweater had been torn by a bullet.

Authorities expressed the opinion that the clothing may have been worn by a victim in an aftermath to the Siegel slaying, the first outbreak of a predicted gang war. Reports reached state detectives probing the slaying that both the "fin-german" and the "trigerman" were known and were on the "spot."

The clothing was discovered on Main street where it was tossed from a speeding automobile headed in the direction of Maine. It was in Portland, Me., that the automobile used by the Siegel slayers was registered under a fictitious name. A sawed-off shotgun was found on the floor of the car.

Former Local Man Seriously Injured

Two Members Of Party Returning From World's Fair Are Killed

Michael Zamalis, a former New Castle resident, now of Vandergrift, Pa., is in a critical condition in the South Side hospital, Youngstown, Ohio, the result of an automobile collision on the Akron-Youngstown road, five miles west of Youngstown, on Wednesday night.

Gus Fazekas, 45, and James Miller, 16, of Vandergrift, who were in the same machine with Mr. Zamalis, were fatally wounded. George Saitis, 18, Anthony Miller, 25, and the former local resident, who were returning from Chicago where they visited the Century of Progress, were seriously injured. Their conditions were described as critical this afternoon, a Youngstown report stated.

Edward Simko, 24, of Cleveland, the driver of the other vehicle which crashed with the car in which the party of five men was riding in, received minor injuries.

(International News Service)
PARIS, Aug. 23.—Completing her first flight as a regularly employed pilot on the London-Paris cross-channel service, Amy Mollison, famous British aviatrix, landed at Le Bourget in a blinding rainstorm this afternoon.

She was 42 minutes late, the delay being attributed to unfavorable weather on the channel route.

She accepted the job, she said, to help train herself for the coming race to Melbourne, Australia, in which the world's great distance pilots will participate.

Program Continued.

The program was continued at the bandstand in the park where $250 worth of various foodstuffs was given away. During the day the committee gave away over 100 baskets loaded with various groceries. The chief diversion of the evening was dancing at Rainbow Terrace. The pavilion attracted a capacity crowd.

As the crowd commenced to wend homeward late in the evening their attentions gave one the idea that one of the summer months had been spent. From every standpoint the outing was successful.

Despite the large crowd, no serious accidents occurred to mar the day's program. The picnic was one that will be remembered for months to come.

Probe Slaying Of Tavern Head

Nate Siegel, Former Boxing
Champion, Is Killed By Gangsters Near Hamilton, Mass.

(International News Service)

HAMILTON, Mass., Aug. 23.—Investigation into the gangland slaying of Nate Siegel, former boxing champion and Revere Tavern proprietor, turned to this town today with the discovery of bullet-torn and blood-stained clothing. Siegel was killed in his home on Aug. 6.

The clothing consisted of a cheap sweater and an undershirt, wrapped in a blanket. They were covered with fresh blood, the shoulder of the shirt and sweater had been torn by a bullet.

Authorities expressed the opinion that the clothing may have been worn by a victim in an aftermath to the Siegel slaying, the first outbreak of a projected gang war. Reports reached state detectives probing the slaying that both the "finger-man" and the "triggerman" were known and were on the "spot."

The clothing was discovered on Main street where it was tossed from a speeding automobile headed in the direction of Maine. It was in Portland, Me., that the automobile used by the Siegel slayers was registered under a fictitious name. A sawed-off shotgun was found on the floor of the car.

Michael Zamalis, a former New Castle resident, now of Vandergrift, Pa., is in a critical condition in the South Side hospital, Youngstown, Ohio, the result of an automobile collision on the Akron-Youngstown road, five miles west of Youngstown, on Wednesday night.

Gus Fatzakas, 45, and James Miller, 16, of Vandergrift, who were in the same machine with Mr. Zamalis, were fatally wounded. George Saitlis, 18, Anthony Miller, 25, and the former local resident, who were returning from Chicago where they visited the Century of Progress, were seriously injured. Their conditions were described as critical this afternoon, a Youngstown report stated.

Edward Simko, 24, of Cleveland, the driver of the other vehicle which crashed with the car in which the party of five men was riding in, received minor injuries.

She accepted the job, she said, to help train herself for the coming race to Melbourne, Australia, in which the world's great distance pilots will participate.

Oldest Twin In Country Is Dead

(International News Service)
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 23.—The last survivor of America's oldest twins died here today.

She was Mrs. Henrietta Dannenbaum. Last January 18 she celebrated her 100th birthday.

Death came quietly as the aged woman slept in her hotel suite.

Henry Rainey himself would scarcely have recognized it, came to pay their respects to a kind neighbor as well as a great statesman.

The funeral services were impressive but simple, as he would have wanted them to be.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Senator Dieterich and Governor Horner and a few relatives of the Rainey family sat in the flower-banked parlor of the Rainey home. Bishop John Chanler White of the Episcopal church stood in the hall near the casket rested and read the funeral service.

President Roosevelt did not accompany the body to the cemetery, but returned to his special train for the return to Washington after staying a little more than two hours.

Six friends of Speaker Rainey, two farmers, two bankers, a lawyer and a garage owner, bore him to his final resting place.

Award Contracts For New Vessels

Plans To Build Up Navy To Treaty Strength Moves Swiftly Ahead

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—President Roosevelt's plan to build up the American navy to full treaty strength moved swiftly forward today with the award of contracts and allocations by the Navy Department for the construction of 24 new naval vessels in private and government shipbuilding yards.

Contracts for the construction of 11 of the new naval vessels were awarded to private yards. The other 13 warships will be constructed in navy yards.

One Heavy Cruiser
Construction of the 12 vessels in government yards included one heavy cruiser allocated to the Philadelphia yard.

The law requires that construction of naval vessels shall be equally divided between private and government yards unless award of contract to the private firms is found inconsistent with public interest.

Failure of the Navy Department to award bids to any one of the west coast private companies which submitted bids was explained by Col. Roosevelt as due principally to the west coast companies not filing bonds with their applications.

Allocation of most of the construction work in the government yards to the east was explained by Roosevelt as due to the fact that the navy yards on the west coast had to be left available for the fleet which is stationed on the Pacific coast.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m. August 22: violation of parking law 6 and disorderly conduct and drunkenness 1.

City hall was as slow as a funeral march yesterday. The offices were closed on account of Grocers Day. However, the police station operations worked as usual.

Building operations in this city are very slow at present. Only a few permits have been issued recently and most of them that are granted by the city engineer's office call for small construction jobs.

Every night in the week several reports of boys committing minor depredations are received by police. Police make few arrests of noisy boys but will probably take some of the boys who commit damage into custody.

No doubt some persons have gone into the city controller's office and not seen the controller, Earl Wimer, during the past few days. He has been auditing the school books at the North street school building.

Not all of the police alarm boxes in the city have a light with which to call patrolmen to the box to receive orders. The Gamewell system, however, has been working good recently.

Among those who did not get a holiday yesterday were police, firemen, street department employees and those employed in the collection of garbage and sewage disposal bureaus.

During yesterday's brief but heavy downpour of rain a torrent of water raced from Sycamore way west into North Mill street. It added to the hill which flowed from the North Mill street car track.

It was not long until the water of the curb. The pool at Sycamore way the middle of the street car track.

Farther north passengers missed cars rather than waded through water. It is a bad situation there every time it rains. One "Raleigh" yesterday secured bricks and placed woman could walk without getting her shoes wet.

GOODYEAR ALL-WEATHER

IT'S a fact—more people are buying the new Goodyear "G-3" All-Weather than any other tire in the world!

Think what that success must mean! The "G-3" costs no less than other tires—it's no greater bargain in price -- so it must be a bargain in safety!

It has grip in the center of the tread — where you need it for quicker stops — and it keeps that grip 43% longer than former All-Weathers, by actual test fleet records.

Many enthusiastic users tell us, it keeps its grip twice as long as any tire they ever used!

No wonder other tires can't match its success! The fact is, they can't even match the foundation of its success, which is patented Goodyear Supertwist in every ply.

Local politicians are interested in the apparent support of William A. Schnader for governor by Thomas W. Phillips of Butler, who was a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination at the spring primary. Phillips has been silent since his defeat, but at a Schnader meeting held in Butler Tuesday evening he appeared on the platform and introduced the candidate. This is taken as an indication that he will support Schnader.

Lawrence county applicants for naturalization will be interested in a ruling made by the department to the effect that a foreign-born man or woman who marries an American citizen is now eligible for naturalization without the formality of filing what is known as "first papers."

Heretofore an alien was compelled to be two years in this country before making first application. Under the new ruling an alien, if married to an American citizen, can procure naturalization papers within 90 days. The ruling is retroactive to May 24th at noon.

Viewers will make a favorable recommendation at the September term of court for the vacation of a road in North Beaver township. The road to be vacated begins at a point on the road leading from Moravia to Petersburg, O., about 643 feet west of its intersection with State Highway route No. 18 at the village of Moravia; thence in a southerly direction, 3706 feet to a point to what is known as the Hall Town intersection of a road leading to Ed-ward's run with the Hall Town road. A second section to be vacated begins on the Hall Town road 420 feet east of the intersection of the above described road with the Hall Town road, running southerly 875 feet to a point on the Crawford road, 1325 feet west of the intersection of the road leading from Cunningham's residence to Jenkin's Arch.

Considerable interest is being shown here in the National Housing act, under which it is proposed to make loans available for remodeling and rehabilitation of homes. Local banks have received copies of the blanks to be filled which will entitle them to a guarantee of twenty per cent of the loans in case there are any defaults. So far as can be learned no applications have yet been made here for loans, but it is known that a number of citizens are securing estimates of needed improvements on their homes, which will be submitted to the banks --g with their applications for loans. The act provides that the loans be financed through local banks and building and loan associations. Restrictions thrown about the loans are considered pretty severe which may have a tendency to eliminate many applications that might otherwise be made.

Will of the late Katherine Warbieko of Union township has been admitted to probate at the register and recorder's office, and letters testamentary have been issued to John Warbieko. Award Contracts For New Vessels

Plans To Build Up Navy To
Treaty Strength Moves
Swiftly Ahead

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—President Roosevelt's plan to build up the American navy to full treaty strength moved swiftly forward today with the award of contracts and allocations by the Navy Department for the construction of 24 new naval vessels in private and government shipbuilding yards.

Contracts for the construction of 11 of the new naval vessels were awarded to private yards. The other 13 warships will be constructed in navy yards.

One Heavy Cruiser
Construction of the 13 vessels in government yards included one heavy cruiser allocated to the Philadelphia yard.

The law requires that construction of naval vessels shall be equally divided between private and government yards unless award of contract to the private firms is found inconsistent with public interest.

Failure of the Navy Department to award bids to any one of the west coast private companies which submitted bids was explained by Col. Roosevelt as due principally to the west coast companies not filing bonds with their applications.

Allocation of most of the construction work in the government yards to the east was explained by Roosevelt as due to the fact that the navy yards on the west coast had to be left available for the fleet which is stationed on the Pacific coast.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m. August 22 seven arrests on charges as follows: violation of parking law 6, and disorderly conduct and drunkenness 1.

City hall was as slow as a funeral march yesterday. The offices were closed on account of Grocers Day. However, the police station operations worked as usual.

Building operations in this city are very slow at present. Only a few permits have been issued recently and most of those that are granted by the city engineer's office call for small construction jobs.

Every night in the week several reports of boys committing minor depredations are received by police. Police make few arrests of noisy boys but will probably take some of the boys who commit damage into custody.

No doubt some persons have gone into the city controller's office and not seen the controller, Earl Wimer, there during the past few days. He has been auditing the school books at the North street school building.

Not all of the police alarm boxes in the city have a light with which to call patrolmen to the box to receive orders. The Gamewell system, however, has been working good recently.

Among those who did not get a holiday yesterday were police, firemen, street department employees and those employed in the collection of garbage and sewage disposal bureaus.

During yesterday's brief but heavy downpour of rain a torrent of water raced from Sycamore way west into North Mill street. It added to the water which flowed from the North Hill. It was not long until the water was within an inch of the top of the curb. The pool at Sycamore way and North Mill street extended to the middle of the street car track. Farther north passengers missed cars rather than wade through water. It is a bad situation there every time it rains. One "Raleigh" yesterday secured bricks and placed them on the sidewalk so one young woman could walk without getting her shoes wet.

Award Contracts For New Vessels

Plans To Build Up Navy To
Treaty Strength Moves
Swiftly Ahead

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—President Roosevelt's plan to build up the American navy to full treaty strength moved swiftly forward today with the award of contracts and allocations by the Navy Department for the construction of 24 new naval vessels in private and government shipbuilding yards.

Contracts for the construction of 11 of the new naval vessels were awarded to private yards. The other 13 warships will be constructed in navy yards.

One Heavy Cruiser
Construction of the 13 vessels in government yards included the heavy cruiser allocated to the Philadelphia yard.

The law requires that construction of naval vessels shall be equally divided between private and government yards unless award of contract to the private firms is found inconsistent with public interest.

Failure of the Navy Department to award bids to any one of the west coast private companies which submitted bids was explained by Col. Roosevelt as due principally to the west coast companies not filing bonds with their applications.

Allocation of most of the construction work in the government yards to the east was explained by Roosevelt as due to the fact that the navy yards on the west coast had to be left available for the fleet which is stationed on the Pacific coast.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m. August 22 seven arrests on charges as follows: violation of parking law 6 and disorderly conduct and drunkenness 1.

City hall was as slow as a funeral march yesterday. The offices were closed on account of Grocers Day. However, the police station operations worked as usual.

Building operations in this city are very slow at present. Only a few permits have been issued recently and most of them that are granted by the city engineer's office call for small construction jobs.

Every night in the week several reports of boys committing minor depredations are received by police. Police make few arrests of noisy boys but will probably take some of the boys who commit damage into custody.

No doubt some persons have gone into the city controller's office and not seen the controller, Earl Wimer, there during the past few days. He has been auditing the school books at the North street school building.

Not all of the police alarm boxes in the city have a light with which to call patrolmen to the box to receive orders. The Gamewell system, however, has been working good recently.

Among those who did not get a holiday yesterday were police, firemen, street department employees and those employed in the collection of garbage and sewage disposal bureaus.

During yesterday's brief but heavy downpour of rain a torrent of water raced from Sycamore way west into North Mill street. It added to the water which flowed from the North Hill. It was not long until the top of the curb. The pool at Sycamore way and North Mill street extended to the middle of the street car track. Farther north passengers missed cars rather than waded through water. It is a bad situation there every time it rains. One "Raleigh" yesterday secured bricks and placed them on the sidewalk so one young woman could walk without getting her shoes wet.

Lawrence county applicants for naturalization will be interested in a ruling made by the department to the effect that a foreign-born man or woman who marries an American citizen is now eligible for naturalization without the formality of filing what is known as "first papers." Heretofore an alien was compelled to be two years in this country before making first application. Under the new ruling an alien, if married to an American citizen, can procure naturalization papers within 90 days. The ruling is retroactive to May 24th at noon.

way route No. 18 at the village of Moravia; thence in a southerly direction, 3706 feet to a point to what is known as the Hall Town road about 420 feet west of the intersection of a road leading to Edward's road with the Hall Town road. A second section to be vacated begins on the Hall Town road 420 feet east of the intersection of the above described road with the Hall Town road, running southerly 875 feet to a point on the Crawford road, 1325 feet west of the intersection of the road leading from Cunningham's residence to Jenkin's Arch.

Considerable interest is being shown here in the National Housing act, under which it is proposed to make loans available for remodeling and rehabilitation of homes. Local banks have received copies of the blanks to be filled which will entitle them to a guarantee of twenty per cent of the loans in case there are any defaults. So far as can be learned no applications have yet been made here for loans, but it is known that a number of citizens are securing estimates of needed improvements on their homes, which will be submitted to the banks along with their applications for loans. The act provides that the loans be financed through local banks and building and loan associations. Restrictions thrown about the loans are considered pretty severe which may have a tendency to eliminate many applications that might otherwise be made.

Local politicians are interested in the apparent support of William A. Schnader for governor by Thomas W. Phillips of Butler, who was a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination at the spring primary. Phillips has been silent since his defeat, but at a Schnader meeting held in Butler Tuesday evening he appeared on the platform and introduced the candidate. This is taken as an indication that he will support Schnader.

Lawrence county applicants for naturalization will be interested in a ruling made by the department to the effect that a foreign-born man or woman who marries an American citizen is now eligible for naturalization without the formal of filing what is known as "first papers." Heretofore an alien was compelled to be two years in this country before making first application. Under the new ruling an alien, if married to an American citizen, can procure naturalization papers within 90 days. The ruling is retroactive to May 24th at noon.

way route No. 18 at the village of Moravia; thence in a southerly direction, 3706 feet to a point to what is known as the Hall Town road about 420 feet west of the intersection of a road leading to Edinboro's run with the Hall Town road. A section of the road to be vacated begins on the Hall Town road 420 feet east of the intersection of the above described road with the Hall Town road, running southerly 875 feet to a point on the Crawford road, 1325 feet west of the intersection of the road leading from Cunningham's residence to Jenkin's Arch.

Considerable interest is being shown here in the National Housing act, under which it is proposed to make loans available for remodeling and rehabilitation of homes. Local banks have received copies of the blanks to be filled which will entitle them to a guarantee of twenty per cent of the loans in case there are any defaults. So far as can be learned no applications have yet been made here for loans, but it is known that a number of citizens are securing estimates of needed improvements on their homes, which will be submitted to the banks along with their applications for loans. The act provides that the loans be financed through local banks and building and loan associations. Restrictions thrown about the loans are considered pretty severe which may have a tendency to eliminate many applications that might otherwise be made.

GOODYEAR
ALL-WEATHER

IT'S a fact—more people are buying the new Goodyear "G-3" All-Weather than any other tire in the world!

Think what that success must mean!

The "G-3" costs no less than other tires—it's no greater bargain in price—so it must be a bargain in safety!

It has grip in the center of the tread—where you need it for quicker stops—and it keeps that grip 43% longer than former All-Weathers, by actual test fleet records.

Many enthusiastic users tell us, it keeps its grip twice as long as any tire they ever used!

No wonder other tires can't match its success! The fact is, they can't even match the foundation of its success, which is patented Goodyear Supertwist in every ply.

Come in and see this tire that's breaking sales records—and ask about our guarantee.

Local politicians are interested in the apparent support of William A. Schnader for governor by Thomas W. Phillips of Butler, who was a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination at the spring primary. Phillips has been silent since his defeat, but at a Schnader meeting held in Butler Tuesday evening he appeared on the platform and introduced the candidate. This is taken as an indication that he will support Schnader.

Plan To Hold Young Man For Death Of Girl

Faye New, Howard College
Co-Ed, Is Found Slain In

WAS LAST SEEN ON AUTO RIDE

(International News Service)
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 23.—A warrant formally charging Harry Taylor, son of an Alabama state official, with the murder of Faye New, Howard college co-ed, will be issued immediately, it was announced today.

The girl's body was found in a cornfield outside the city, after hundreds of searchers had looked for it throughout the day. Miss New's throat had been cut in two places.
Bruises on the body showed that she had engaged in a violent struggle for life before being murdered.

She was never seen alive after going for an automobile ride with Taylor Monday night. But the youth, after 36 hours of police questioning, still insists that the girl left his car at midnight Monday, saying that she would walk home.

Fresh berries or fruit mixed with fresh or canned pineapple, sweetened and chilled, make a refreshing dessert and one especially inviting to serve after a rather heavy meal.

Scotland School Reunion Is Held

Interesting Story Of School
Is Related By John W.
Pattison

Former teachers and pupils of Scotland school held a pleasant reunion at the Union township high school Wednesday evening. Tables, spread in the big auditorium, were profusely decorated with garden flowers. Dinner was served at 8 o'clock.

The reunion included teachers and pupils who had attended Scotland school up and including 1910.
The teachers present were Rev. R.
B. Wilson of Canonsburg, Pa.,
Charles Fullerton of North Beaver township, Mrs. Elizabeth White of Washington, D. C., and Miss Pearl
Atkinson and J. P. Caldwell, of this city.

Mrs. Teresa Travers, secretary, presented a list of those who had been teachers or pupils and have died within the past few years.
They were Charles Paisley, James Baskley, Frank McConnelly, Dr. Joseph Allen, Mrs. Maggie Winter Pattison, Albert Davis and Flora Warner.

Rev. Wilson was called upon to deliver a short memorial to the deceased members, which he did in a very fitting and impressive manner.
President S. L. Wilson announced a short program which began with a song and dance staged by Dorothy McCart and Betty Jane Buchanan, with Miss Sarah Pattison at the piano. The acting of Dorothy and Betty was clever and won a round of applause.

John W. Pattison gave an interesting and instructive history of the Scotland school. He had been unable to find exactly when the first log school house was built on the site of the present Scotland school,
but it was around 1815.

The land surrounding the school
and that on which the new high school stands was what is known as donation land, having been given to early settlers who were revolutionary war soldiers. Much of the Union township land was originally owned by three early settlers, Raney, Riggs and Stambaugh, many of whose descendants still live in the township.

Riggs and Stambaugh received their grants of the land between the years 1798 and 1800. Alexander Stewart was another revolutionary soldier who received a big donation. He never settled on the land but sent friends from Scotland. The Scotland school was named after the Scotch pioneers.
The first school had split log desks
and seats.

Two Indian Tribes
When the original grants to the land were made there were two tribes of Indians here, one the Senecas, with a village near what is now Mahoningtown and the other the Complanters, who had a village near the Harbor on what is now the
James Davidson farm. The Indians left about 1814, the Complanters being the last to leave.

In further tracing the history of the Scotland school Mr. Pattison told about the different buildings which had been erected on the site.
Brief remarks were made by the former teachers after which President Wilson presided at a business meeting at which Miss Pearl Atkinson was elected president for the ensuing year and Mrs. D. C. McClelland, secretary-treasurer. Miss Atkinson was authorized to appoint committees for the next reunion
which will be held at the same place.
It was decided to enlarge the scope
to take in all teachers and pupils who had been connected with the school up to and including 1915.

They Wanted Coal Get Five Days

The hopes of three youthful coal train "riders" from Lowellville, O., who planned to ride a B. & O. coal
freight into the Lowellville district
so they could "unload" coal when it reached there, were blasted when the hawk-eye of a B. & O. patrolman spotted them on the train as it
morning.

And instead of piling up coal as they had intended to do the three today were doing the first of their five day county jail terms.

Patrolman A. E. Lowers nabbed
the trio and said the boys admitted boarding the train purposely to push coal off when it reached their home district. From New Castle to Lowellville, police figured the boys would have piled the coal on one side and then pushed it off when the time came.

The three, none over 20, gave their names as Patsy Pantana, Albert Guerrero and Peter Cepheci, all of Lowellville.

Alderman Wallace J. Ewing sent them to the county jail after they had pleaded guilty.

School Opens For Registering

The office at the George Washington junior-senior high school opened for the 1934-35 term Wednesday and Principal Browne K.
Thacker today urged all township and parochial pupils who expect to attend to report during the preschool period to arrange study schedules.

The office will be open from 8 a.
m. to 4 p. m. daily. The noon closing hour will be observed Saturdays.
Principal Thacker estimated that Washington's attendance this year
at 1,060, including the 250 students
of senior high rank will be attending overflow classes there instead of at Senior high. The Washington building was opened in 1928 with a total enrollment of 725 pupils.

Be sure to move your bird from the room where you are doing some painting. The smell of turpentine or fresh paint will make him ill.

Interesting Story Of School
Is Related By John W.
Pattison

Former teachers and pupils of Scotland school held a pleasant reunion at the Union township high school Wednesday evening. Tables, spread in the big auditorium, were
profusely decorated with garden
flowers. Dinner was served at 6 o'clock.

The reunion included teachers
and pupils who had attended Scotland school up and including 1910.
The teachers present were Rev. R.
B. Wilson of Canonsburg, Pa.,
Charles Fullerton of North Beaver township; Mrs. Elizabeth White of Washington, D. C., and Miss Pearl
Atkinson and J. P. Caldwell, of this city.

Mrs. Teresa Travers, secretary, presented a list of those who had been teachers or pupils and have
died within the past few years.
They were Charles Paisley, James Paisley, Frank McConnell, Dr. Joseph Allen, Mrs. Maggie Winter Pattison, Albert Davis and Flora Warner.

Rev. Wilson speaks
Rev. Wilson was called upon to deliver a short memorial to the deceased members, which he did in a
very fitting and impressive manner.
President S. L. Wilson announced a short program which began with McCart and Betty Jane Buchanan, with Miss Sarah Pattison at the piano. The acting of Dorothy and Betty was clever and won a round
of applause.

John W. Pattison gave an interesting and instructive history of the
able to find exactly when the first log school house was built on the site of the present Scotland school,
but it was around 1815.

The land surrounding the school
and that on which the new high school stands, was what is known as donation land, having been given to early settlers who were revolutionary war soldiers. Much of the Union township land was originally owned by three early settlers, Ran-
ey, Riggs and Stambaugh, many of whose descendants still live in the township.

Raney, Riggs and Stambaugh received their grants of the land between the years 1798 and 1800. Alexander Stewart was another revolutionary soldier who received a big donation. He never settled on the land but sent friends from Scotland. The Scotland school was named after the Scotch pioneers.
The first school had split log desks
and seats.

Two Indian Tribes
When the original grants to the land were made there were two
tribes of Indians here, one the Senecas, with a village near what is now Mahoningtown and the other the Mohicans, who had a village
near the Harbor on what is now the
left about 1814, the Cornplanters being the last to leave.

In further tracing the history of
the Scotland school Mr. Pattison told about the different buildings
which had been erected on the site.

Brief remarks were made by the former teachers after which President Wilson presided at a business meeting at which Miss Pearl Atkinson was elected president for the ensuing year and Mrs. D. C. McClelland, secretary-treasurer. Miss Atkinson was authorized to appoint
committees for the next reunion
which will be held at the same place.
It was decided to enlarge the scope
to take in all teachers and pupils
who had been connected with the school up to and including 1915.

They Wanted Coal Get Five Days

The hopes of three youthful coal train "raiders" from Lowellville, O.,
who planned to ride a B. & O. coal
freight into the Lowellville district
so they could "unload" coal when it reached there, were blasted when the
hawk-eye of a B. & O. patrolman
morning.

And instead of piling up coal as they had intended to do the three today were doing the first of their five day county jail terms.

Patrolman A. E. Lowers nabbed
the trio and said the boys admitted
boarding the train purposely to push coal off when it reached their home district. From New Castle to Lowellville, police figured the boys
would have piled the coal on one side and then pushed it off when the time came.

The three, none over 20, gave their names as Patsy Pantana, Albert Guerrino and Peter Cephecci, all of Lowellville.

Alderman Wallace J. Ewing sent them to the county jail after they had pleaded guilty.

School Opens For Registering

The office at the George Washington junior-senior high school
opened for the 1934-35 term Wednesday and Principal Browne K.
Thacker today urged all township
and parochial pupils who expect to attend to report during the preschool period to arrange study
schedules.

The office will be open from 8 a.
m. to 4 p. m. daily. The noon closing hour will be observed Saturdays.
Principal Thacker estimated that Washington's attendance this year
at 1,060, including the 290 students
of senior high rank will be attending overflow classes there instead
of at Senior High. The Washington
building was opened in 1928 with a total enrollment of 725 pupils.

Suit To Recover For Death Of Son

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Stevenson File Action Against Frank Guarnuri

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Stevenson of Volant have filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Frank Guarnuri of Plaingrove township in which they ask $5000 for the death of their son, Everett D. Stevenson, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident on June 12, 1934.

According to the statement of claim, Everett, aged 19, was riding a bicycle near the Union Supply company store at the coal mines in Plaingrove township when he was struck by a truck driven by Frank Guarnuri, Jr., son of the defendant.

It is claimed that Stevenson was proceeding south on his own side of the road, when the truck, going in the opposite direction, came across the center of the road and struck the bicycle.

Stevenson was thrown off and received a fractured skull from which he died. It is alleged that Everett was employed as a coal miner and was able to earn $5 per day and that his parents were not only deprived of his income, but were put to the expense of hospital, doctor and burial bills.

Carelessness on the part of the driver of the truck is set forth as a grounds for damages.

Crocheted gloves in bright shades are being worn with black linen suits.

Amalgamated To Rest On Decision Board Hands Out

President Tighe Undisturbed By Threat Of Companies To Test Constitutionality

WOULD WELCOME COURT CHALLENGE

By J. WILLIAM THEIS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23.—Come what may, the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers will not appeal to the courts from any decision of the national steel labor relations board, the President Tighe undisturbed by threat of companies to test constitutionality.

These were the expressions today of Michael P. Tighe, veteran international president of the steel union, whose charges of company violations of collective bargaining provisions in the recovery act brought creation of the board and the government's mediation program.

"The Amalgamated will not appeal the labor board's decision, regardless of whom they favor," Tighe flatly asserted in an International News Service interview.

"We don't want to go through the experience we had with the old labor board of collecting thousands of affidavits of grievances and violations, and then finding the board had no power."

"If they're going to take the thing into court it should not be done by newspaper talk—they should file the suit."

The aged labor leader, for 15 years conservative president of the union, denied emphatically that the Amalgamated is seeking a "closed shop" in its fight with the steel employers.

"The Amalgamated is asking for a 'closed shop.' All we are asking is that the guarantees of collective bargaining in section 7-A be upheld."

Court Issue Proper

"No one can find fault with the proposition of testing the constitutionality of the existing law. If that is planned, let's get it over with. The Amalgamated would welcome a court test of the board's power—as long as it is not dragged out."

many. Hitler's ardent admirers are annoyed that even four million votes should read "no." The Jews of Germany could not well be blamed, since there are only 600,000 of them. They could not well cast 4,000,000 votes. Herr Goebbels, Hitler's propaganda chief, suggests in his newspaper Angriff that the anti-Hitler votes were cast by German Catholics.

That "no" votes were Catholic votes seems improbable, in view of the attitude of Hitler's government toward religion in general. Catholicism in particular, and emphatic complaints made by the Vatican.

IT IS FEARED by Protestants as well as Catholics in Germany that hostility to Christianity may develop and spread among Germans, as it has done in Russia, Spain, Mexico and elsewhere.

General von Hindenburg, revered by the Germans, urged German churches "to see to it that Christ is preached." But von Hindenburg is dead, and August Hopp, writing for the Hitler youth movement of Germany, praises "the movement toward Paganism in the Protestant church, urging young Germans to take up the fight against Christianity and realize that their conversion to Christianity was a crime against the German race and people, which put them completely at the mercy of powers outside the state."

Young Mr. Hopp tells Germans "liberate yourselves from the culture of alien priests who want to make you the booty of the Jews. Discard the last vestiges of Christian training, so destructive to us Nordics. Abandon the Jewish-Christian conception of sin, pity and loving the enemy."

AMONG OTHER steps toward paganism, is included the suggestion that Germany "restore the hemlock cup." You remember that Socrates, condemned to death, was ordered to "drink the hemlock" while he did, philosophizing nicely while the poison spread to his heart, as Plato tells you, and refusing to escape from his prison when opportunity was offered him, that he might set a good example.

Some in Germany want to revive the ancient custom of giving prisoners their choice of being killed or killing themselves. Your college boy who has read Tacitus will tell you how it worked in old days, how the ungrateful Nero, for instance, educated by Seneca, sent word to his old teacher that the time had come for him to die, whereupon Seneca obligingly opened his veins and bled to death.

HOWEVER, the Germans as a whole are a sensible people. They don't want to bring back druids, or Wotan, or Siegfried, or drink human blood from a cup made of the top of an enemy's skull.

Ninety per cent of Germans want to continue the civilization of Goethe, Schiller, Humboldt, Heine, Hegel and Virchow. And that is what they will do, when this attack of foolishness shall have passed.

MRS. TED GLOVIER, of Moorfield, Pa., weighs 120 pounds, her husband weighs 155 pounds, not that his weight makes much difference. Their little boy, named, as you will guess, Franklin Delano Glover, just arrived, weighs 14 pounds. Franklin Delano Glover will not attract as much attention as do the five Dionne quintuplets. But the mother is proud of the fact that her Franklin Delano weighs a birth one pound and a half more than all five of the quintuplets. Franklin Delano Glover's father says: "I can't account for it." No accounting is necessary. Every baby, big or little, is a marvel, and weight at birth makes little difference. One sickly little baby called Voltaire started a work that overthrew a long line of fat French kings.

NEW YORK presents to your attention an interesting robbery in the Borough of Brooklyn. A well organized gang of eleven highway-men surrounded an armored car with machine guns carefully planted in a peddler's cart and in parked cars, held up the armed guards, stole four hundred and twenty-seven thousand dollars.

THE ROBBERS escaped in three high-powered automobiles, the armored truck pursuing, one machine gun that the robbers had overlooked, spitting futile bullets.

That appears to be the record for robbery in the public streets. The eleven bandits will regret to hear that, in addition to overlooking one machine gun, they overlooked $29,000 in cash.

A BIG DIAMOND is coming to the United States, fourth largest in the world, called the Jonked-gem. The "pebble" was found in South Africa by a farmer, and sold to the diamond corporation for $315,000. The corporation refused $500,000 for the stone, now coming here to be cut to best advantage. Ladies will wear diamonds as big as piggeons' eggs, but hardly as big as a turkey's egg, that would be conspicuous.

INJURED YOUTH LEAVES HOSPITAL

Daniel Sacco, of the Margaret Henry Home, who was injured August 10, when he pulled a flower box from a window, sustaining a severe laceration of the head, has recovered sufficiently to leave the Jameson Memorial hospital.

HELD FOR HEARING

Archie Thompson, New Wilmington, was arrested by Sergeant Megill of the Sharon detail of State Highway patrol along the New Castle-Warrenton road yesterday afternoon. Today he was committed to the county jail in default of $1,000 bail awaiting a hearing on charge of having driven an auto while intoxicated.

One of the oldest attendants at the picnic was Charles O. Nord of Bessemer. He has been in business in Lawrence county for the past 45 years.

When the torrential rain came down shortly before 2 o'clock it was a sight to see the 3,000 or more persons disperse to seek shelter. However, the deluge lasted only an hour and the program, which was halted temporarily, was continued.

David Vallensi and Burgess Turner of Ellwood City, two veteran business men, were among those in attendance. Mr. Vallensi must have sensed the rain, as he carried an umbrella. Mr. Turner, attired in a smart suit, was fortunate in escaping the rain.

A checkup at the park office late last night revealed that no serious accidents occurred during the picnic.

Two events which thrilled the large throng immensely were the freckle and milk-drinking contests. Billy Jones of 1011 West North street took the honors for having the most freckles; Walter Boron of 1701 Han-

Thumbnail Pictures Of Grocers' Picnic

The most active person at Cascade park Wednesday was Frank W. Hill, general chairman of the Lawrence county grocers' outing, who was busier than an octopus. It was his hard work during the past weeks which resulted in the success of the affair.

In order to transport the large crowd to the park yesterday, the street car company was compelled to use several additional street cars, during the afternoon and evening.

One of the oldest attendants at the picnic was Charles O. Nord of Bessemer. He has been in business in Lawrence county for the past 45 years.

na street captured the milk drinking event in easy fashion.

Up until yesterday, the writer didn't have the slightest idea that Lawrence county residents liked their coffee. Close to 35,000 cups of coffee were distributed during supper time by a corps of men who were kept busy for some time.

The merry-go-round ride, always a favorite with the "kiddies", was jammed from early noon until late last night.

James E. Thomas, assistant fire chief, spent most of the afternoon at the park, checking up to see that everything was O. K.

What drew an immense crowd was the bathing beauty contest staged at the pool. The gallery was filled like it was never filled before, Billy Glenn stated.

That young folks are dance conscious was proven Wednesday afternoon and evening. The pavilion was jammed to capacity, especially in the afternoon.

According to Frank W. Hill, the outing was the most successful one held by the organization so far.

INTERVIEWED by the Paris edition of the New York Herald Tribune, William Randolph Hearst says there will be no war in Europe for many years, principally because European nations haven't enough money to run a big war, and could not again borrow it from the United States.

If war should soon come again in Europe conditions, according to Mr. Hearst, would become very uncomfortable for those classes of human beings that have been most comfortable hitherto. After such a war, Europe would be "depopulated and devastated" and this would be the situation, as Mr. Hearst sees it.

"After the travail the tragedy, the anguish, the agony of the next war resolute peoples in every nation will rise in complete rebellion—Communism and worse than Communism will be in complete possession of every state."

"The classes now important in the community—the classes which control government and will be held responsible for the war—will cease to exist."

"The poverty of the nations and of peoples, which is only partial now, will be complete."

"The destruction of class, destruction which is only partial now, will be absolute."

"Red mobs will surely rule in every nation and the present upper classes will find themselves the lowest and most detested classes, lucky if they even retain their lives."

"The scenes of the recent Russian revolution and of the earlier French revolution will be repeated in every state in Europe."

"The destructions of the social revolution, which will follow the war, will be as great as the devastation of the war."

"Combined, they will mean annihilation, anarchy."

Amalgamated To Rest On Decision Board Hands Out

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23.—Come what may, the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers will not appeal to the courts from any decision of the national steel labor relations board, the president's mediation body, now conducting hearings in the turbulent steel centers of the East.

Further more, if the steel barons contemplate challenging the constitutionality of the board and the law from which it sprung, the Amalgamated will welcome the challenge and a quick decision.

"The destructions of the social revolution, which will follow the devastation of the war, will mean annihilation, anarchy."

many. Hitler's ardent admirers are annoyed that even four million votes should read "no." The Jews of Germany could not well be blamed, since there are only 600,000 of them. They could not well cast 4,000,000 votes. Herr Goebbels, Hitler's propaganda chief, suggests in his newspaper Angriff that the anti-Hitler votes were cast by German Catholics.

That "no" votes were Catholic votes seems improbable, in view of the attitude of Hitler's government toward religion in general. Catholicism in particular, and emphatic complaints made by the Vatican.

IT IS FEARED by Protestants as well as Catholics in Germany that hostility to Christianity may develop and spread among Germans, as it has done in Russia, Spain, Mexico and elsewhere.

General von Hindenburg, revered by the Germans, urged German churches "to see to it that Christ is preached." But von Hindenburg is dead, and August Hoppe, writing for the Hitler youth movement of Germany, praises "the movement toward Paganism in the Protestant church, urging young Germans to take up the fight against Christianity and realize that their conversion to Christianity was a crime against the German race and people, which put them completely at the mercy of powers outside the state."

Young Mr. Hoppe tells Germans "liberate yourselves from the cultures of alien priests who want to make you the booty of the Jews. Discard the last vestiges of Christianity, so destructive to us Germans. Abandon the Jewish-Christian conception of sin, pity and loving the enemy."

AMONG OTHER steps toward Paganism, is included the suggestion that Germany "restore the hemlock cup." You remember that Socrates, condemned to death, was ordered to "drink the hemlock," which he did, philosophizing nicely while the poison spread to his heart, as Plato tells you, and refusing to escape from his prison when opportunity was offered him, that he might set a good example.

Some in Germany want to revive the ancient custom of giving prisoners their choice of being killed or killing themselves. Your college boy who has read Tacitus will tell you how it worked in old days, how the ungrateful Nero, for instance, educated by Seneca, sent word to his old teacher that the time had come for him to die, whereupon Seneca obligingly opened his veins and bled to death.

HOWEVER, the Germans as a whole are a sensible people. They don't want to bring back druids, or Wotan, or Siegfried, or drink human blood from a cup made of the top of an enemy's skull.

Ninety per cent of Germans want to continue the civilization of Goethe, Schiller, Humboldt, Heine, Hegel and Virchow. And that is what they will do, when this attack of foolishness shall have passed.

MRS. TED GLOVIER, of Moorfield, Va., weighs 120 pounds, her husband weighs 135 pounds, not that his weight makes much difference. Their little boy, named, as you will guess, Franklin Delano Glover, just arrived, weighs 14 pounds. Franklin Delano Glover will not attract as much attention as do the five Dionne quintuplets. But the mother is proud of the fact that her Franklin Delano weighs at birth one pound and a half more than all five of the quintuplets. Franklin Delano Glover's father says: "I can't account for it." No accounting is necessary. Every baby, big or little, is a marvel, and weight at birth makes little difference. One sickly little baby called Voltaire started a work that overthrew a long line of fat French kings.

NEW YORK presents to your attention an interesting robbery in the Borough of Brooklyn. A well organized gang of eleven highwaymen surrounded an armored car with machine guns carefully planted in a peddler's cart and in parked cars, held up the armed guards, stole four hundred and twenty-seven thousand dollars.

THE ROBBERS escaped in three high-powered automobiles, the armored truck pursuing, one machine gun that the robbers had overlooked, spitting futile bullets. That appears to be the record for robbery in the public streets. The eleven bandits will regret to hear that, in addition to overlooking one machine gun, they overlooked $29,000 in cash.

A BIG DIAMOND is coming to the United States, fourth largest in the world, called the Jonked gem. The "pebble" was found in South Africa by a farmer, and sold to the diamond corporation for $315,000. The corporation refused $500,000 for the stone, now coming here to be cut to best advantage. Ladies will wear diamonds as big as pigeons' eggs, but hardly as big as a turkey's egg, that would be conspicuous.

HELD FOR HEARING

Archie Thompson, New Wilmington, was arrested by Sergeant Megill of the Sharon detail of State Highway patrol along the New Castle-Wampum road yesterday afternoon. Today he was committed to the county jail in default of $1,000 bail awaiting a hearing on charge of having driven an auto while intoxicated.

Thumbnail Pictures Of Grocers' Picnic

The most active person at Cascade park Wednesday was Frank W. Hill, general chairman of the Lawrence county grocers' outing, who was busier than an octopus. It was his hard work during the past weeks which resulted in the success of the affair.

In order to transport the large crowd to the park yesterday, the street car company was compelled to use several additional street cars, during the afternoon and evening.

One of the oldest attendants at the picnic was Charles O. Nord of Bessemer. He has been in business in Lawrence county for the past 45 years.

When the torrential rain came down shortly before 2 o'clock it was a sight to see the 3,000 or more persons disperse to seek shelter. However, the deluge lasted only an hour and the program, which was halted temporarily, was continued.

David Valensi and Burgess Turner of Ellwood City, two veteran business men, were among those in attendance. Mr. Valensi must have sensed the rain, as he carried an umbrella. Mr. Turner, attired in a smart suit, was fortunate in escaping the rain.

Two events which thrilled the large throng immensely were the freckle and milk-drinking contests. Billy Jones of 1011 West North street took the honors for having the most freckles; Walter Boron of 1701 Hanna street captured the milk drinking event in easy fashion.

Up until yesterday, the writer didn't have the slightest idea that Lawrence county residents liked their coffee. Close to 35,000 cups of coffee were distributed during supper time by a corps of men who were kept busy for some time.

The merry-go-round ride, always a favorite with the "kiddies", was jammed from early noon until late last night.

James E. Thomas, assistant fire chief, spent most of the afternoon at the park, checking up to see that everything was O. K.

What drew an immense crowd was the bathing beauty contest staged at the pool. The gallery was filled like it was never filled before, Billy Glenn stated.

That young folks are dance conscious was proven Wednesday afternoon and evening. The pavilion was jammed to capacity, especially in the afternoon.

According to Frank W. Hill, the outing was the most successful one held by the organization so far.

President Tighe Undisturbed By Threat Of Companies To Test Constitutionality

WOULD WELCOME COURT CHALLENGE

By J. WILLIAM THEIS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23.—Come what may, the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers will not appeal to the courts from any decision of the national steel labor relations board, the President's mediation body, now conducting hearings in the turbulent steel centers of the East.

Further more, if the steel barons contemplate challenging the constitutionality of the board and the law from which it sprung, the Amalgamated will welcome the challenge and a quick decision.

Will Not Appeal

These were the expressions today of Michael P. Tighe, veteran international president of the steel union, whose charges of company violations of collective bargaining provisions in the recovery act brought creation of the board and the government's mediation program.

"The Amalgamated will not appeal the labor board's decisions, regardless of whom they favor," Tighe flatly asserted in an International News Service interview.

"Whatever the board's decision, we'll abide by it. The board was created at the request of the Amalgamated. It would be inconsistent for us to object to any decision the board might hand down. We'll bear with it, satisfactory or not."

Undisturbed by reports that the steel leaders would accept no adverse decision concerning labor difficulties short of the United States supreme court, Tighe declared:

"No one can find fault with the proposition of testing the constitutionality of the existing law. If that is planned, let's get it over with. The Amalgamated would welcome a court test of the board's power—as long as it is not dragged out."

"We don't want to go through the experience we had with the old labor board: of collecting thousands of affidavits of grievances and violations, and then finding the board had no power."

"If they're going to take the thing into court, it could not be done by newspaper talk—they should file the suit."

The aged labor leader, for 15 years conservative president of the union, denied emphatically that the Amalgamated is seeking a "closed shop" in its fight with the steel employers.

"The Amalgamated never asked for a 'closed shop.' All we are asking is that the guarantee of collective bargaining in section 7-A be upheld."

Interviewed by the Paris edition of the New York Herald Tribune, William Randolph Hearst says there will be no war in Europe for many years, principally because European nations haven't enough money to run a big war, and could not again borrow it from the United States.

If war should soon come again in Europe conditions, according to Mr. Hearst, would become very uncomfortable for those classes of human beings that have been most comfortable hitherto. After such a war, Europe would be "depopulated and devastated," and this would be the situation, as Mr. Hearst sees it:

"After the travail, the tragedy, the anguish, the agony of the next war, the people will rise in complete rebellion—Communism and worse than Communism will be in complete possession of every state."

"The property of nations and of peoples, which is only partial now, will be complete."

"The destruction of class, destruction which is only partial now, will be absolute."

"Red mobs will surely rule in every nation and the present upper classes will find themselves the lowest and most detested classes, lucky if they even retain their lives."

"The scenes of the recent Russian revolution and of the earlier French revolution will be repeated in every state in Europe."

"The destructions of the social revolution, which will follow the war, will be as great as the devastation of the war."

Shenango Valley Hospital Opened Forty Years Ago

That huge hulk of a building at the corner of North Beaver street and Lincoln avenue, the old Shenango Valley hospital, which has just been closed just a few years ago it served the community staunchly and faithfully. Within its walls many lives were saved, many of the prominent citizens of today were born.

Since the day it was opened in 1894 until it was closed just a few years ago it served the community staunchly and faithfully. Within its walls many lives were saved, many of the prominent citizens of today were born.

Excerpts from a Lawrence County history book at the New Castle public library, furnished The News by Miss Rose Barber, reference librarian, and several contributions from other local people, reveal some interesting facts:

Most active spirits in the movement for the hospital building were, originally, William Patterson, Thomas W. Phillips, A. W. Thompson and other employers of large industrial forces, who gave freely of their time and means to the furtherance of the project and subsequently to the maintenance of the institution.

As long ago as 1887 efforts were made, through Dr. Elias Stevenson and Henry Edwards, who represented this district of the state legislature, to get a bill passed appropriating funds for the hospital. They were unsuccessful and upon returning from Harrisburg reported that an appropriation could not be secured unless the local people would contribute. A charter was procured January 19, 1891, and that year the legislature appropriated $10,000 for a building and $7,500 for furnishings, on condition that the citizens of New Castle raise $10,000.

A. W. Thompson started out with a subscription paper and was successful in raising the money. In 1891, from the estate of I. N. Phillips, was purchased 1½ acres of ground.

C. C. Thayer was engaged as the architect.

On April 8, 1893, when the building was partly furnished but not occupied, except by the watchman, the building was almost completely destroyed by fire. The alarm had been sounded at 10:30 p. m. The building was insured for $12,500. The debris was cleared away before the embers were cold and reconstruction started.

On April 12, 1894, the building was opened and dedicated to the use of the public. The board of directors were Thomas W. Dickey, William Patterson, David Dickey, L. Hoyt, W. E. Reis, M. S. Marquis, J. P. H. Cunningham, George E. Berger and W. A. Thompson.

In 1896 the Shenango Valley Hospital Training School for Nurses was established and incorporated. The first faculty was composed of the Drs. R. G. Miles, A. W. Urmsion, W. H. Hay, E. C. McCord, H. W. McKee, John Foster, H. E. Zerner, W. L. Campbell, W. C. Kissing and C. F. McDowell.

In 1899 an addition was built, called the North Wing, at a cost of $43,000.

BOY ACCIDENTALLY KILLS MOTHER

Little three-year-old Douglas Merrill, right, still asks his father why his mother "went away". A pistol the boy accidentally discharged played a bullet into his mother, Mrs. Merrill, left, who had just returned home from the hospital in Salt Lake City, Utah, with her new born baby. Playing unnoticed by his mother's bedside he had taken his father's gun from under a pillow, toyed with the trigger, and fired the fatal shot.

Lincoln School Reunion Expected To Attract Throng

Students Prior To 1900 And Their Friends Will Gather September 7

September 7 will be a big day in Slabtown, for it will mark the return of former pupils of the old Lincoln school to the school building again for a reunion and program, when old times will be discussed.

All old pupils who attended the Lincoln school prior to 1900 and their families and friends of these days of yore are invited to attend the gathering and renew old acquaintances.

During the twilight hour of the evening, there will be a period of visiting on the school grounds which will be followed by a formal program which will be something out of the ordinary, the program committee states.

The Lincoln school was built about the time the tin mills came to New Castle, and there were many who came to the city and settled in old Slabtown about that period who did not attend the school but who helped out with the entertainments and events at the building. All these old friends of the school are especially invited to attend the reunion, the committee states.

The old teachers will be especially welcome and are asked to help round up the old pupils for the evening's gathering.

HIGH FOOTBALL PLAYERS CALLED

First Meeting Of Year Will Be Held Tonight At Senior High At 7 o'clock

Will Pick Group To Make Trip To Camp Monday; Gets Camp In Shape

New Castle High school football candidates for the 1934 season will have their meeting of the year tonight at 7 o'clock at the Senior High Building. Coach Philip H. Bridenbaugh has issued the call for a young man who intends to play the grid game to report. A group will be selected to make the trip at Muddy Falls Monday morning.

There are several veterans on the squad this year and together with the new material that will enter High School from Franklin and Washington Coach Bridenbaugh hopes to mold another championship team.

Walter "Rad" Raskowski is the captain of the team this year. There is some speculation whether or not Bridenbaugh will leave Raskowski in the backfield or place him back on the line again. If a suitable hard punting back can be found during the camp period, then it is probable that Raskowski will go back to his favorite post at guard.

Camp Made Ready

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner has the football camp at Muddy Creek Falls all shined up ready for the influx of gridgers bright and early Monday morning. There will be a practice session held Monday afternoon. No time will be lost once the young gridgers arrive in camp. It is estimated that the number of candidates for the team this fall will be in the neighborhood of 150. The squads are getting bigger each year. The High School may carry four complete teams this year if uniforms can be obtained for that large a number. Every boy will have a chance to make "good." No positions are certain. If a boy shows Bridenbaugh that he has the stuff he will be given ample opportunity to make the squad.

A tough program confronts the New Castle high gridgers this year.

LISTEN TO THIS...

In 1913 the Cubs and Reds played a nine-inning game with one baseball. In those days a ball wasn't discarded when it became soiled. The fans weren't allowed to keep balls, either. If a ball went into the stands, play would be held up until it was returned. Owen Carroll of the Brooklyn Dodgers considers Pinky Whitney the toughest batter to whom he pitches. In 1922 the late Miller Huggins fined Babe Ruth $5,000. The Tom Yawkey banquet held in Boston was attended by 800, even though it cost $4 a plate. The popular notion that a person "comes up three times" before drowning is a fallacy. He may come up many times or not at all, depending upon various conditions. Bob Ripley made $1,400,000 with his "Believe It Or Not" last year.

Elton Hossett, Detroit hurler who has been called an Indian for years, insists that there is not a drop of Indian blood in his veins. Ted Lyons attended Baylor University before joining the Chicago White Sox. Waite Hoyt was only 16 years old when he began pitching professional baseball. In 1906 the Chicago Cubs set the record for winning most games in a season by taking 116, against only 36 defeats. However, they were defeated by the Chicago White Sox in the world series. Gene Sarazin is of Italian descent. The New York Giants hold the major league record for stolen bases. They stole 347 sacks in 1911. Arthur Irwin, shortstop for the Providence Grays, originated the gloves for infielders and outfielders around 1885. Clark Griffith says Detroit is the luckiest team in baseball.

Paul Beeler, timekeeper at the long count battle between Dempsey and Tunney, is employed in Sacramento, Cal., by a mining company. Hughey Critz didn't go out for baseball while in college until his junior year. He is a graduate of Mississippi A. & M., of which his father is president. Hughey pronounces his name "Crytz." Upset was the only horse that ever defeated Man O' War. In 1872 a horse called Nickajack became frightened at the post and ran away for miles. It was brought back, won the race and paid $1,178 for a $5 pool. Although Jack Quinn, pitching for the Brooklyn Dodgers, was on the mound 42 times in 1932, he didn't hurt a complete game during the season. It takes about two-fifths of a second for a ball thrown by a pitcher to reach the plate.

The first Harmsworth boat race, in 1903, was won at a speed of 18 knots an hour. Paul Robeson, the great Negro singer and actor, was an all-American football player and a four-letter man in 1917 at Rutgers University. But Earl Lindo, former featherweight champion, once scored for one-round knockouts in amateur competition. He kayaked every victim with less than three punches. When Bobby Jones dropped out of amateur golf competition the gate at the various tournaments dropped off to the extent of $23,000. Donie Bush has probably set some kind of a traveling record in going back and forth between the majors and minors to manage various clubs. Donie has moved from Washington to Pittsburgh to the Chicago White Sox to Minneapolis. He then came back to the Chicago White Sox and then back to Minneapolis. It is reported that he will be up again next year as a major league manager.

Joe Cronin To Be Retained In Senator's Camp

Griffith Will Not Likely Fire Young Man Who Is Going To Marry Relative

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—It's all a little mysterious and unusual, especially the part where young Joe Cronin, Washington player-manager and baseball's most eligible bachelor, was reported engaged to the boss' niece one day and on his way to Chicago the next. However, it's always unusual when Clark Griffith hasn't fired the manager by August and his behavior in this instance is practically unprecedented.

He was, they said, of a mind to fire the manager last year when the ball team was second. This year the ball team is fifth and everything seems to be superb. After all, even Mr. Griffith may see some difficulty in trading a betrothal for two pitchers and a utility infielder. The niece in question, I understand, has been legally adopted by the old man and is one of the principal heirs to the Washington ball club, which might seem to indicate that the press boys were a little impulsive during the last world's series when they assailed young Mr. Cronin as a man without judgment.

As to that I'm not so certain that he isn't a pretty good manager. Possibly it's the ball team that has failed this year, rather than Cronin. His first baseman, Kuhl, has faded down below .300. So has one of his outfielders, Schulte. His second baseman, Buddy Myer, had a big year in 1933 and is just another ball player now. Cronin himself was hitting down around .280 the last time I looked.

Nevertheless, Mr. Griffith's record proves that he's not the man to look causes when effects are available. He is, indeed, inclined to be impetuous with his managers, as George McBride, Clyde Milan, Donie Bush, Stanley Harris and Walter Johnson can regrettably attest. McBride and Milan lasted one year each. Bush took the club from sixth to fourth and was fired. Harris won two pennants and naturally received usual clemency. He wasn't fired until the fourth year. Walter Johnson finished fifth, second and third his first three years and was fired at the end of the fourth.

I'm not putting the finger on young Mr. Cronin. In fact, I think the old man may be making a pretty good, all around deal. He's acquiring an excellent relative by marriage and apparently keeping little to a young man who, by dinn living and right thinking, seems in a pine to become a fair country manager.

Booster Game At Ryantown Field

Ryantown Will Play Colonial A. C. In Benefit Game Tonight At 5:30 o'clock

Tonight at the Ryantown field the Ryantown team of the Independent league will play the Colonial A. C. in what is to be known as a "booster benefit game" for the Ryantown team. The biggest crowd of the year will no doubt go to Ryantown field tonight for the game and social event. Hill or Book will do the twirling for the Ryantowns, and Thornton will likely throw them up for the Colonials. The Colonials are on a winning streak of nine straight and hope to add the Ryantowns to their string of victories since dropping out of the Independent league. The series between the two teams to date stands at one apiece. The "rubber game" tonight will be a hard fought affair.

Yankees Gain On Detroit In Splitting Two

Yanks Win And Lose To Cleveland While Senators Defeat Tigers

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—There's an old adage about charity coming home to roost or something and Bucky Harris of the Boston Red Sox is the fellow who can attest to its truth.

It was purely a charitable gesture last spring when Harris offered a job to Wesley Ferrell, a once great right-hander with the Cleveland Indians who had contracted a bad sore arm and who, to all intents and purposes, was all washed up.

But with the season not yet three-fourths over, this same Ferrell has more than repaid his debt of gratitude to the charitable Harris.

Yesterday, for example, he held the Chicago White Sox to seven scattered hits and beat them 3-2. In addition to his fine pitching he belted two home runs.

Gomez Wins Again.

Another fine exhibition of pitching was seen in New York where the mighty Lefty Gomez held the Cleveland Indians to two meagre hits and shut them out in the first game of a double-header, 9-0.

Unfortunately for the Yankees, Gomez couldn't hurl both ends of the twin bill. The Indians slapped Johnny Murphy, Jimmy Deshong and Johnny Broaca around for 14 hits in the second contest to win 10-4.

The Yankees incidentally gained a half-game on the league leading Detroit Tigers, who dropped a 7 to 5 decision to the Washington Senators.

In the other American league contest Bill Dietrich received credit for his second shutout victory as the Philadelphia Athletics defeated the St. Louis Browns, 2 to 0. Bob Johnson drove in both runs for the Mackmen.

There were no games played in the National league.

In 1913 the Cubs and Reds played a nine-inning game with one base ball. In those days a ball wasn't discarded when it became soiled. The fans weren't allowed to keep balls, either. It was brought back, won the race and paid $1,178 for a $5 pool. . . . Although Jack Quinn, pitching for the Brooklyn Dodgers, was on the mound 42 times in 1932, he didn't hurl a complete game during the season. . . . It takes about two-fifths of a second for a ball thrown by a pitcher to reach the plate.

The first Harmsworth boat race, in 1903, was won at a speed of 18 knots an hour. . . . When Bobby Jones dropped out of amateur golf competition the gate at the various tournaments dropped off to the extent of $33,000. . . . Donnie Bush has probably set some kind of a traveling record in going back and forth between the majors and minors to manage various clubs. Donnie has moved from Washington to Pittsburgh to the Chicago White Sox to Minneapolis to Cincinnati, and then back to Minneapolis. It is reported that he will be up again next year as a major league manager.

Joe Cronin To Be Retained In Senator's Camp

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—It's all a little mysterious and unusual, especially the part where young Joe Cronin, Washington player-manager and baseball's most eligible bachelor, was reported engaged to the boss' niece one day and on his way to Chicago the next. However, it's always unusual when Clark Griffith hasn't fired the manager by August and his behavior in this instance is practically unprecedented. . . . He was, they said, of a mind to fire the manager last year when the ball team was second. This year the ball team is fifth and everything seems to be superb. After all, even Mr. Griffith may see some difficulty in trading a betrothal for two pitchers and a utility infielder. The niece in question, I understand, has been legally adopted by the old man and is one of the principal heirs to the Washington ball club, which might seem to indicate that the press boys were a little impulsive during the last world's series when they assailed young Mr. Cronin as a man without judgment.

Cronin Good Manager.
As to that I'm not so certain that he isn't a pretty good manager. Possibly it's the ball team that has failed this year, rather than Cronin. His first baseman, Kuhel, has faded down below .300. So has one of his outfielders, Schulte. His second baseman, Buddy Myer, had a big year in 1933 and is just another ball player now. Cronin himself was hitting down around .280 the last time I looked.

Nevertheless, Mr. Griffith's record proves that he's not the man to look causes when effects are available. He is, indeed, inclined to be impetuous with his managers, as George McBride, Clyde Miller, Donnie Bush, Stanley Harris and Walter Johnson can regretfully attest. McBride and Miller lasted one year each. Bush took the club from sixth to fourth and was fired. Harris won two pennants and naturally received unusual clemency. He wasn't fired until the fourth year. Walter Johnson finished fifth, second and third his first three years and was fired at the end of the fourth.

I'm not putting the finger on young Mr. Cronin. In fact, I think the old man may be making a pretty good, all around deal. He's acquiring an excellent relative by marriage and apparently keeping title to a young man who, by clean living and right thinking, seems in line to become a fair country manager.

Shenango Valley Hospital Opened Forty Years Ago

That huge hulk of a building at the corner of North Beaver street and Lincoln avenue, the old Shenango Valley hospital, which has just been opened by a decision of the Jameson Memorial hospital board, was once the pride of every New Castle citizen.

Since the day it was opened in 1894 until it was closed just a few years ago it served the community staunchly and faithfully. Within its walls many lives were saved, many of the prominent citizens of today were born.

Excerpts from a Lawrence County history book at the New Castle public library, furnished The News by Miss Rose Barber, reference librarian, and several contributions from other local people, reveal some interesting facts:

Most active spirits in the movement for the hospital building were, originally, William Patterson, Thomas W. Phillips, A. W. Thompson and other employers of large industrial forces, who gave freely of their time and means to the furtherance of the project and subsequently to the maintenance of the institution.

As long ago as 1887 efforts were made, through Dr. Silas Stevenson and Henry Edwards, who represented this district of the state legislature, to get a bill passed appropriating funds for the hospital. They were unsuccessful and upon returning from Harrisburg reported that an appropriation could not be secured unless the local people would contribute. A charter was procured January 19, 1891, and that year the legislature appropriated $10,000 for a building and $7,500 for furnishings, on condition that the citizens of New Castle raise $10,000. A. W. Thompson started out with a subscription paper and was successful in raising the money.

In 1891, from the estate of I. N. Phillips, was purchased 1½ acres of ground.

C. C. Thayer was engaged as the architect.

On April 8, 1893, when the building was partly furnished but not occupied, except by the watchman, the building was almost completely destroyed by fire. The alarm had been sounded at 10:30 p. m. The building was insured for $12,500. The debris was cleared away before the embers were cold and reconstruction started.

On April 12, 1894, the building was opened and dedicated to the use of the public. The board of directors were Thomas W. Dickey, William Patterson, David Dickey, L. F. Hoyt, W. E. Reis, M. S. Marquis, J. P. H. Cunningham, George B. Berger and W. A. Thompson.

In 1899 an addition was built, called the North Wing, at a cost of $43,000.

BOY ACCIDENTALLY KILLS MOTHER

Little three-year-old Douglas Merrill, right, still asks his father why his mother "went away". A pistol the boy accidentally discharged plowed a bullet into his mother, Mrs. May Merrill, left, who had just returned home from the hospital in Salt Lake City, Utah, with her new born baby. Playing unnoticed by his mother's bedside he had taken his father's gun from under a pillow, toyed with the trigger, and fired the fatal shot.

Lincoln School Reunion Expected To Attract Throng

Students Prior To 1900 And Their Friends Will Gather
September 7

September 7 will be a big day in Slabtown, for it will mark the return of former pupils of the old Lincoln school to the school building again for a reunion and program, when old times will be discussed.

All old pupils who attended the Lincoln school prior to 1900 and their families and friends of these days of yore are invited to attend the gathering and renew old acquaintances.

During the twilight hour of the evening, there will be a period of visiting on the school grounds which will be followed by a formal program which will be something out of the ordinary, the program committee states.

The Lincoln school was built about the time the tin mills came to New Castle, and there were many who came to the city and settled in old Slabtown about that period who did not attend the school but who helped out with the entertainments and events at the building. All these old friends of the school are especially invited to attend the reunion, the committee states.

The old teachers will be especially welcome and are asked to help round up the old pupils for the evening's gathering.

They charged Ed Brandt, south-paw hurler for the Boston Braves with being indifferent, lazy and lacking in courage, but Ed didn't pay any attention to the criticism. Instead he kept a stiff upper lip and apparently was snapped out of the rut. He has been winning and recently set down the Giants with only two hits. He blanked the Pirates with three hits and fanned seven Dodgers and allowed them only one run. Later he repeated the knockout total against the Phils and allowed them only one run. While the abuse flowed in his direction he never mentioned being suffered from a lame back and that several of his defeats were due to poor support by teammates.

Buddy Baer has hopes some day of filling the shoes now worn by his brother Max, the world's heavy-weight champion. At San Francisco recently he started training and said with the same modesty which characterizes that of Primo Carnera: "I will not be ambitious at the start. I have no idea of beginning as a main bout. All I want is experience so when the time comes Max can turn the title over to me."

Insurance on Gallant Sir, Riskus and Toro Nancy, the three horses belonging to Norman W. Church of the Mira Monte stables at San Jose, Cal., has been raised to $100,000 according to the veteran trainer E. L. Fitzgerald. This is one of the incidental expenses in handling great racing stock.

These obstacle races are trying events. For instance consider the race at Dublin recently, Willie Morton, fleet Irish runner, dashed up to the gates of Cooke park to enter the home stretch. Unfortunately the gates were locked. The tired runner looked around but he could not see the man who might have a key. His strain and anxiety to lead suddenly seemed wasted for beside him stood J. Timmins another runner. He thought left for behind. Suddenly the gates were opened but in the resumed race the second man broke the tape first. Morton immediately pointed out the harshness of his treatment. Stewards scratched their heads after which two prizes were granted.

Polo is going over big at Zeilenople and as a feature attraction there Sunday the Pittsburgh club, said to be Pennsylvania's best, will play Old Furnace of Zeilenople at 3:30 p. m. d. s. t. It should be one of the outstanding games of all those played this season. Old Furnace will use Troutman, Wilson and Smith against McCahill, Adams and Elkus, according to James Passavant.

Quite a crowd of fight fans will leave here early this evening to see the amateur boxing show at the high school stadium in Beaver Falls tonight. The first bout will start at 8:30 p. m. d. s. t. Sammy Crocetti of this city has been docketed to box some good 126-pounder. The police and Beaver Falls post of the American Legion are sponsoring the show, which is a benefit for the Providence hospital.

Quite a few fans around this section are clamoring for another boxing show here. It is not known if one will be staged, although there is some talk of another big attraction being put on. According to folk who witnessed boxing for the first time on August 10 at the Taggart stadium, they were well pleased with the entertainment. It was run like all the other boxing shows staged here. There were good bouts, order, and satisfied fandom.

Hardy runners will race today in Cleveland's second annual Irish Day marathon, and among them will be Clarence DeMar, most famous marathoner in the country. He captured last year's 26-mile, 385-yard grind. Some of those who will compete are Mike Joyce, Cleveland; Mel Porter, Newark; Rev. Carlos Whitlock, Framingham, Mass.; Percy Wyer, Toronto, Ont.; and Harry Sherman, Providence, R. I.

The New York Yankees hope to overtake the Detroit Tigers, but they sustained a bad break when Catcher Bill Dickey split a finger on his strikeout hand with two out in the ninth inning of the second game with Cleveland yesterday. Mel Harder was at bat when the accident occurred. He will be out about two weeks. Arndt Jorgens will do the bulk of the catching until Dickey returns to the berth.

Virginia Van Wile, with a total of 323 for 72 holes, won the women's western golf derby at Chicago yesterday, and Australia came through to retake "The Ashes", world cricket trophy. While this was going on the Conewago, Rochester defender, outslated Invader 11 of Canada and kept possession of the Canada's cup for fresh water racing.

Rainbow won from Weetamec by a minute and one-half over a 30-mile course off Newport, R. I., yesterday. It was the first test to select the yacht which will defend the America's cup. Rainbow, which is owned by Harold S. Vanderbilt, will compete against the Yankee today in the rotating trial series.

Mrs. Catherine Rose won, 6-1, 6-2, from Mrs. Vida Shaffer, Minneapolis, and will play Mrs. Andree Russell in the semi-finals today of the Minnesota championships. Both of today's players are from Cleveland.

HIGH FOOTBALL PLAYERS CALLED

First Meeting Of Year Will Be Held Tonight At Senior High At 7 o'Clock

Will Pick Group To Make Trip To Camp Monday; Gets Camp In Shape

New Castle High school football candidates for the 1934 season will have their meeting of the year tonight at 7 o'clock at the Senior High Building. Coach Philip H. Bridenbaugh has issued the call for all young men who intend to play the grid game to report. A group will be selected to make the trip to Muddy Falls Monday morning.

There are several veterans on the squad this year and together with the new material that will enter High School from Franklin and Washington Coach Bridenbaugh hopes to mold another championship team.

Walter "Rad" Raskowski is the captain of the team this year. There is some speculation whether or not Bridenbaugh will leave Raskowski in the backfield or place him back of the line again. If a suitable hand plugging back can be found during the camp period, then it is probable that Raskowski will go back to his favorite spot at guard.

Camp Made Ready

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner has the football camp at Muddy Creek Falls all shined up ready for the influx of gridders bright and early Monday morning. There will be a practice session held Monday afternoon. No time will be lost once the young gridders arrive in camp.

It is estimated that the number of candidates for the team this fall will be in the neighborhood of 150. The squads are getting bigger each year. The High School may carry four complete teams this year if uniforms can be obtained for that large number. Every boy will have a chance to make "good." No names are certain. If a boy shows Bridenbaugh that he has the stuff he will be given ample opportunity to make the squad.

Crucial Game Of Series Today

Bessemer And West Pittsburg Play Fourth Game At Bessemer

BESSEMER HAS WON TWO GAMES

West Pittsburg and Bessemer will clash in the fourth of their five game series at 5 p. m. E. S. T. today at Bessemer. The series so far played Bessemer has won two games. Dick Nord may pitch for Bessemer and Hughes for West Pittsburg.

West Pittsburg lost the third game of the series which was a heart breaker. Tonselle hurled a superb game against Snyder and in order to keep in the race for the Lawrence County loop championship West Pittsburg must win today. Should they take today's game a loss of a coin will decide where the fifth game will be played.

In 1913 the Cubs and Reds played a nine-inning game with one baseball. In those days a ball wasn't discarded when it became soiled. The fans weren't allowed to keep balls, either. If a ball went into the stands, play would be held up until it was turned in. Owen Carroll of the Brooklyn Dodgers considers Pinky Whitney the toughest batter to whom he pitches. In 1922 the late Miller Huggins fined Babe Ruth $5,000. The Tom Yawkey banquet held in Boston was attended by 800, even though it cost $8 a plate. The popular notion that a person comes up three times before drowning is a fallacy. He may come up many times or not at all depending upon various conditions. Bob Ripley made $1,400,000 with his "Believe It Or Not" last year.

Eliot Huggatt, Detroit hurler who has been called an Indian for years, insists that there is not a drop of Indian blood in his veins. Ted Lyons attended Baylor University before joining the Chicago White Sox. Waite Hoyt was only 16 years old when he began pitching professional baseball. In 1906 the Chicago Cubs set the record for winning most games in a season by taking 116 against only 36 defeats. However, they were defeated by the Chicago White Sox in the world series. Gene Sarazen is of Italian descent. The New York Giants hold the major league record for stolen bases. They stole 347 sacks in 1911. Arthur Irwin, shortstop for the Providence Grays, originated the gloves for infielders and outfielders around 1885. Clark Griffith says Detroit is the luckiest team in baseball.

Paul Becker, timekeeper at the lone combat battle between Dempsey and Turner, is employed in Sacramento, Cal., by a mining company. Hughey Critz didn't go out for baseball while in college until his junior year. He is a graduate of Mississippi A. & M., of which his father is president. Hughey pronounces his name "Grylls." Up to the present time, the only ever-defeated Man O' War, a horse called Nickajack, became frightened at the post and ran away for three miles. It was brought back, won the race and paid $1,178 for a $5 pool. Although Jack Quinn, pitcher for the Brooklyn Dodgers, was on the mound 42 times in 1932, he didn't hurl a complete game during the season. It takes about two-fifths of a second for a ball thrown by a pitcher to reach the plate.

The first Harnsworth beat race. In 1903, he won at a speed of 18 knots an hour. Paul Robeson, the great Negro singer and actor, was an all-American football player and a four-letter man in 1917 at Rutgers University. But Baltimore, former featherweight champ, once scored for one-round knockout in amateur competition. He knocked every victim with less than three punches. When Bobby Jones dropped out of amateur golf competition the gate at the various tournaments dropped off to the extent of $33,000. Double Bush has probably set some kind of a traveling record in going back and forth between the majors and minors to manage various clubs. Donie Bush has moved from Washington to Pittsburgh to the Chicago White Sox to Minneapolis to Cincinnati, and then back to Minneapolis. It is reported that he will be again next year as a major league manager.

ITALIAN A. A. WINS

The Italian A. A. defeated the Polish A. C. 5 to 3 in a game at the West Side diamond. This was a junior league game. Call allowed the Polish boys got three hits. The I. A. A. will play the Triborough Tigers tonight.

RICHFIELD MIDGETS WIN

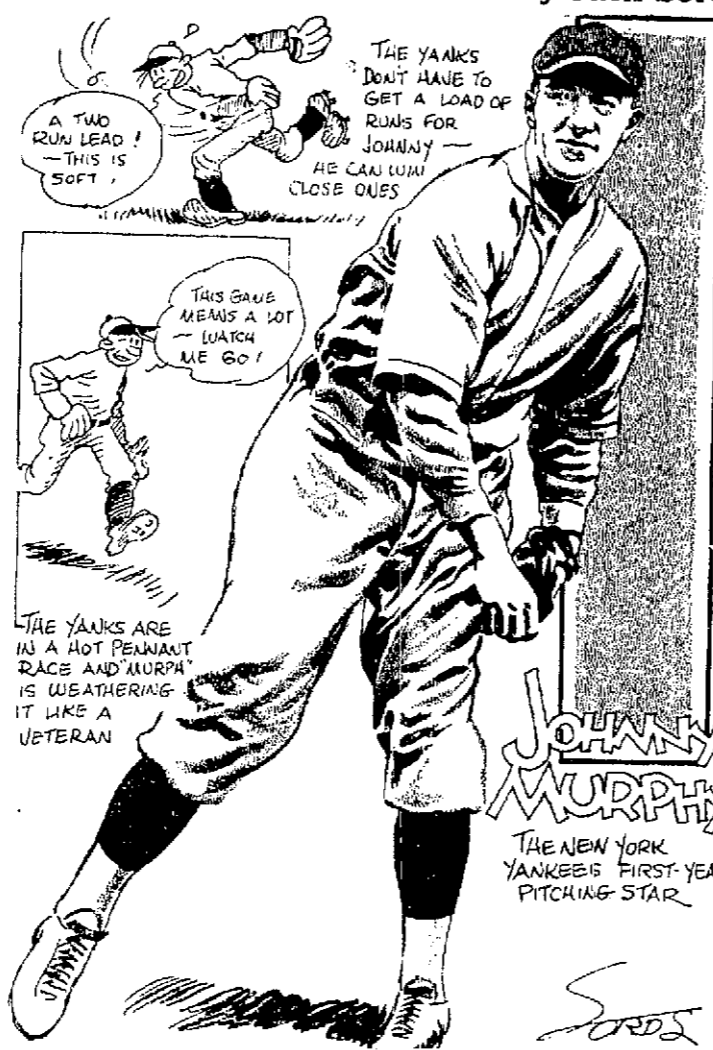

Richfield Midgets softball team handed the St. Andrews Juniors a 7 to 6 defeat at Carnegie field yesterday. It was the 30th victory of the season for the Richfields. The Richfields won out in the ninth on successive hits by Bennease, Conzini and P. Marcello. The Richfields recently handed the Young Yanks a 1 to 0 whitewashing.

Joe Cronin To Be Retained In Senator's Camp

By DAVIS J. WALSH

International News Service Sports

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—It's all a little mysterious and unusual, especially the part where young Joe Cronin, Washington player-manager and baseball's most eligible bachelor, was reported engaged to the boss' niece one day and on his way to Chicago the next. However, it's always unusual when Clark Griffith hasn't fired the manager by August and his behavior in this instance is practically unprecedented.

He was, they said, of a mind to fire the manager last year when the ball team was second. This year the ball team is fifth and everything seems to be superb. After all, even Mr. Griffith may see some difficulty in trading a belted hit for two pitchers and a utility infielder. The piece in question, I understand, has been legally adopted by the old man and is one of the principal heirs to the Washington ball club, which might seem to indicate that the press boys were a little impulsive during the last world series when they assailed young Mr. Cronin as a man without judgment.

Cronin Good Manager.

As to that I'm not so certain that he isn't a pretty good manager. Possibly it's the ball team that has fulfilled this year, rather than Cronin. His first baseman, Kibbel, has faded down below 300. So has one of his outfielders, Schickel. His second baseman, Ruddy Myer, had a big year in 1933 and is just another ball player now. Cronin himself was hitting down around .230 the last time I looked.

Nevertheless, Mr. Griffith's record proves that he's not the man to look on as a mere figurehead. He is, indeed, inclined to be happy with his managers, as George McBride, Clyde Milne, Donie Bush, Stanley Harris and Walter Johnson can attest. McBride and Milne lasted one year each. Bush took the club from sixth to fourth and was fired. Harris won two pennants and naturally received usual clemency. He wasn't fired until the fourth year. Walter Johnson finished fifth, second and third his first three years and was fired at the end of the fourth.

I'm not putting the finger on young Mr. Cronin. In fact, I think the old man may be making a pretty good, all around deal. He's acquiring an excellent relative by marriage and apparently keeping title to a young man who, by clean living and right thinking, seems in line to become a fair country manager.

KANSAS CITY, Kan.—Imagine Junior Otto Eckhardt's surprise when on making his morning rounds at police headquarters he discovered he found a set of teeth grinning at him from the confines of cell No. 8. The food-grinders were left behind by a drunk who was released after he had sobered up.

Flats Defeat New Castle Merchants For Second Time In 3-Game Series

COATES HURLS STEADY GAME

Clifton Flats baseball team won the second half of the Independent baseball league last night at the Clifton Flats Field by taking the measure of a fighting New Castle Merchant team 5 to 4 in a game that decided the title. The Clifton Flats team will now meet the Ryantown team in a series of games, starting Monday night at the Flats Field. The league championship will be at stake.

Coates Pitches Well

Gibson and W. Ciccone had the pitching assignment for the Merchants until the first of the seventh and then the Merchants looked dangerous with the bases filled. Two runs were put over by the Merchants in their half of the seventh but the rally was cut short. Coates allowed nine scattered hits.

The game drew a large crowd to the Flats Field and the game was one of the best of the year.

Booster Game At Ryantown Field

Ryantown Will Play Colonial A. C. In Benefit Game Tonight At 5:30 o'Clock

Tonight at the Ryantown field the Ryantown team of the Independent league will play the Colonial A. C. in what is to be known as a "booster benefit game" for the Ryantowns. The game will start at 5:30 o'clock. A social event is scheduled for the corner of McCleary avenue and Sampson street following game.

The biggest crowd of the year will no doubt go to Ryantown field tonight for the game and social event. The Colonials are on a winning streak of nine straight and hope to add the Ryantowns to their string of victories since dropping out of the Independent league. The series between the two teams to date stands at one apiece. The "rubber game" tonight will be a hard fought affair.

SNOOZED ON HIGHWAY

ANDOVER, Mass.—A few days after Nelson Abbott of Andover was paroled from Bridgewater state farm, where he had served a sentence for drunkenness, he went right back again. Police found him having a "snooze" in the middle of a highway while automobiles whizzed by him in both directions, missing him by inches.

And yet, if there were no deadbeats, where would a young doctor get any practice?

Yankees Gain On Detroit In Splitting Two

Yanks Win And Lose To Cleveland While Senators Defeat Tigers

By PAT ROBINSON

International News Service Sports

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—There's an old adage about charity coming home to roost or something and Bucky Harris of the Boston Red Sox is the fellow who can attest to its truth.

It was purely a charitable gesture last spring when Harris offered a job to Walter Fox, a once great right-hander with the Cleveland Indians who had cantered a bad case arm and while to all intents and purposes, was all washed up.

But with the season not yet three-fourths over, this same Foxell has more than repaid his debt of gratitude to the charitable Harris.

Yesterday, for example, he held the Chicago White Sox to seven scattered hits and beat them 3-2. In addition to his fine pitching he belted two home runs.

Gomez Wins Again.

Another fine exhibition of pitching was seen in New York where the mighty Lefty Gomez held the Cleveland Indians to two meagre hits and shut them out in the first game of a double-header, 9-0.

Unfortunately for the Yankees, Gomez couldn't hurl both ends of the twin bill. The Indians slugged Johnny Murphy, Jimmy DeShong and Johnny Branch around for 14 hits in the second contest to win 10-4.

The Yankees incidentally gained a half-game on the league leading Detroit Tigers, who dropped a 7 to 5 decision to the Washington Senators.

In the other American league contest Bill Dietrich received credit for his second shutout victory as the Philadelphia Athletics defeated the St. Louis Browns, 3 to 0. Bob Johnson drove in both runs for the Mack-men.

There were no games played in the National League.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

They charged Ed Brandt, south-paw hurler for the Boston Braves with being indifferent, lazy and lacking in courage, but Ed didn't pay any attention to the criticism. Instead he kept a stiff upper lip and apparently was snapped out of the rut. He has been winning and recently set down the Giants with only two hits. He blanked the Pirates with three hits and fanned seven Dodgers and allowed them only one run. Later he repeated the feat against the Phils and allowed them only one run. While the abuse flowed in his direction he never mentioned the suffering from a lame back and that several of his defeats were due to poor support by teammates.

Buddy Baer has hopes some day of filling the shoes now worn by his brother Max, the world's heavyweight champion. At San Francisco recently he started training and said with the same modesty which characterizes that of Primo Carnera: "I have no idea of beginning as main bouter. All I want is experience so when the time comes Max can turn the title over to me."

Insurance on Gallant Sir, Riskus and Toro Nancy, the three horses belonging to Norman W. Church of the Mira Monte stables at San Jose, Cal., has been raised to $160,000 according to the veteran trainer E. L. Fitzgerald. This is one of the incidental expenses in handling great racing stock.

These obstacle races are trying events. For instance consider the race at Dublin recently. Willie Morton, fleet Irish runner, dashed up to the gates of Cooke park to enter the home stretch. Unfortunately the gates were locked. The third runner looked around but he could not see the man who might have the keys. His strain and anxiety to lead suddenly seemed wasted for beside him stood J. Timmins another runner he thought left far behind. Suddenly the gates were opened but in the resumed race the second man broke the tape first. Morton immediately pointed out the harshness of his treatment. Stewards scratched their heads after which two prizes were granted.

Polo is going over big at Zellenople and as a feature attraction there Sunday the Pittsburgh club, said to be Pennsylvania's best, will play Old Furnace of Zellenople at 3:30 p. m. d. s. t. It should be one of the outstanding games of all those played this season. Old Furnace will use Troutman, Wilson and Smith against McCahill, Adams and Elkus, according to James Passavant.

Quite a crowd of fight fans will leave here early this evening to see the amateur boxing show at the high school stadium in Beaver Falls tonight. The first bout will start at 8:30 p. m. d. s. t. Sammy Crocetti of this city has been docketed to box some good 126-pounder. The police and Beaver Falls post of the American Legion are sponsoring the show, which is a benefit for the Providence hospital.

Quite a few fans around this section are clamoring for another boxing show here. It is not known if one will be staged, although there is some talk of another big attraction being put on. According to folk who witnessed boxing for the first time on August 10 at the Taggart stadium, they were well pleased with the entertainment. It was run like all the other boxing shows staged here. There were good bouts, order, and satisfied fandom.

Hardy runners will race today in Cleveland's second annual Irish Day marathon, and among them will be Clarence DeMar, most famous marathoner in the country. He captured last year's 26-mile, 385-yard grind. Some of those who will compete are Mike Joyce, Cleveland; Mel Porter, Newark; Rev. Carlos Whitlock, Framingham, Mass.; Percy Wyer, Toronto, Ont.; and Harry Sherman, Providence, R. I.

The New York Yankees hope to overtake the Detroit Tigers, but they sustained a bad break when Catcher Bill Dickey split a finger on his throwing hand with two out in the ninth inning of the game with Cleveland yesterday. Mel Harder was at bat when the accident occurred. He will be out about two weeks. Arndt Jorgens will do the bulk of the catching until Dickey returns to the berth.

Virginia Van Wie, with a total of 323 for 72 holes, won the women's western golf derby at Chicago yesterday, and Australia came through to retake "The Ashes", world cricket trophy. While this was going on, the Colowegs Rochester defender, outslaid Invader II of Canada and kept possession of the Canada's cup for fresh water racing.

Rainbow won from Weetamee by a minute and one-half over a 30-mile course off Newport, R. I., yesterday. It was the first test to select the yacht which will defend the America's cup. Rainbow, which is owned by Harold S. Vanderbilt, will compete against the Yankee today in the rotating trial series.

Mrs. Catherine Rose won, 6-1, 6-2, from Mrs. Vida Shaffer, Minneapolis, and will play Mrs. Andree Russell in the semi-finals today of the Minnesota championships. Both of today's players are from Cleveland.

Psychic Bid, a 9-2 shot, and a staminate of Cavalcade, took the Saratoga Stake for two-year-olds at Saratoga.

R. E. Loudon, Butler, and Merle Israelson, Akron, yesterday at Camp Perry won the long range two-man team match of the national championship small bore rifle matches with a total of 393 out of a possible 400. Loudon's individual score was 197 and Israelson's 196.

Profit Taking Induced By

RAILROAD SHARES
PRIME FAVORITES

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Profit-taking induced by yesterday's widespread advance checked the rally in the market today and brought a moderate amount of irregularity into evidence.

Trading, however, slowed down to a snail's pace once the irregularity set in and such losses as did occur into being were held to small fractions as the market preserved its good tone.

Another factor in snagging the advance was the treasury's action in allowing the shipment of $1,000,000 to France, thereby rallying the dollar.

Railroad shares were again the prime favorites with the trading element today. While attempts to extend yesterday's gains met with only slight success, a few issues such as Atchison, Southern Railway and Southern Pacific scored fractional gains.

Utilities displayed a better tone today, with Columbia Gas and National Power & Light advancing fractionally on a fair demand. United States Steel and other industrial shares were sluggish. General Motors and Chrysler ran into offerings shortly after the opening and suffered small losses.

Commodity markets were reactionary, with wheat and cotton off moderately.

BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 23.—James C. Barr ascended to the superintendency of the Butler county home today almost immediately after commissioners accepted the resignation of Fred C. Herold, under suspension pending findings in two investigations of his alleged mistreatment of aged inmates.

The commissioners appointed Barr to serve until January 1.

Herold's resignation may free him to the prospect of standing trial on brutality charges filed by two inmates of the poor farm, but the September grand jury is expected to recommend correction of any abuses.

Instances of mistreatment and brutality denied by Herold were alleged by inmates in investigations the State Department of Welfare and District Attorney Edgar R. Negley conducted.

PRIME FAVORITES

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Profit-taking induced by yesterday's widespread advance checked the rally in the market today and brought a moderate amount of irregularity into evidence.

Trading, however, slowed down to a snail's pace once the irregularity set in and such losses as did come into being were held to small fractions as the market preserved its good tone.

Another factor in snagging the advance was the treasury's action in allowing the shipment of $1,000,000 to France, thereby rallying the dollar.

Railroad shares were again the prime favorites with the trading element today. While attempts to extend yesterday's gains met with only slight success, a few issues such as Atchafalaya, Southern Railway and Southern Pacific scored fractional gains.

Utilities displayed a better tone today, with Columbia Gas and National Power & Light advancing fractionally on a fair demand.

United States Steel and other industrial shares were sluggish. General Motors and Chrysler ran into offerings shortly after the opening and suffered small losses.

Commodity markets were reactionary, with wheat and cotton off moderately.

World Jewish Conference In 1935 Is Planned

Formal Vote Is Taken At Geneva, Switzerland, By Jewish Conference Committee

YEARS OF EFFORT ENDS SUCCESSFULLY

(International News Service) GENEVA, Aug. 23.—Decisions of the political committee of the World Jewish conference to hold a world congress here next year was recorded in a formal vote today, climaxing years of effort.

The original plans have to have delegates elected from all the nations to be represented were modified to the extent that the meeting will be held in July or August, 1935. "Even if not all the members can be chosen by election."

To Meet Conditions This stipulation was made to meet conditions in Germany, where leaders here believed the Jews will be unable to hold elections, and in the United States, where various powerful Jewish organizations have refused to recognize the Geneva deliberations as representative of unanimous Jewish world opinion.

Meanwhile, discussion continued among members of the sub-committee appointed to draft a resolution for continuance of the boycott against Nazi Germany.

This conflict of opinions delayed convocation of the plenary session which will terminate the conference.

Pitt Officials Raising Kittens

Kittens Will Be Trained To Fight Rats That Infest New Cathedral Of Learning

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23.—University of Pittsburgh's greatest minds today had solved a truly great problem.

It seems there are rats in the huge 41-story Cathedral of Learning which will be the home of the university soon. Rats are always unwelcome in any building. The question arose in the minds of the authorities how to make the rats know it.

Finally, some of the university's janitors had an idea. They brought a box of the biggest, boldest, tomcats they could find to the cathedral.

Have New Idea. But the cats were... only one, they stole away and went back to their homes and perhaps a fire. Pitt's great minds were thrown for a loss.

Then a truly brilliant idea struck home in their minds. They asked: "If cats get homesick, why not raise the cathedral's cats to be at home in the cathedral? We will bring them in as small kittens and wait for them to grow big enough to fight the rats with some hope of victory."

That is being done. The Cathedral of Learning is now "home" to half-a-dozen half-grown kittens. Their diet? Sauces of milk, twice daily.

Communists In Germany Held

Deny Anyone Has Been Arrested For Voting Against Hitler Last Sunday

MANY COMMUNISTS PLACED IN CELLS

By TOM WILHELM International News Service Staff Correspondent
BERLIN, Aug. 23.—The German government today took official cognizance of reports published abroad that arrests have been made in connection with Chancellor Hitler's campaign to convert the 10 per cent of the electorate which voted against him in the recent plebiscite.

A number of arrests have been made, an official communique asserted, but the prisoners, instead of being dissident voters, were actually communists long suspected of complicity in a treason plot against the government.

The statement follows: "Foreign press dispatches and reports have appeared stating that a campaign against opposition voters had been begun by the secret police, arresting 150 persons who voted against Hitler."

"According to these dispatches, action was directed against two groups—Catholics and Jews."

"According to these papers, this is the signal for a huge hunt and persecution directed against oppositionists."

"This hunt exists, according to officialdom, only in foreign press fantasies."

"The dispatches naturally are lies from beginning to end."

"Arrests on these grounds have been made in no case. It appears here that some ill-willing and sensation-seeking correspondent seized upon a few communists arrested in recent days in connection with a large and long-existing high treason plot as a means of creating a libelous campaign of hate."

World Jewish Conference In 1935 Is Planned

YEARS OF EFFORT ENDS SUCCESSFULLY

(International News Service) GENEVA, Aug. 23.—Decisions of the political committee of the World Jewish conference to hold a world congress here next year was recorded in a formal vote today, climaxing years of effort.

Jewish leaders since 1932 have been attempting to summon a general congress representing all nations.

The original plans have to have delegates elected from all the nations to be represented were modified to the extent that the meeting will be held in July or August, 1935. "Even if not all the members can be chosen by election."

To Meet Conditions This stipulation was made to meet conditions in Germany, where leaders here believed the Jews will be unable to hold elections, and in the United States, where various powerful Jewish organizations have refused to recognize the Geneva deliberations as representative of unanimous Jewish world opinion.

Meanwhile, dissension continued among members of the sub-committee appointed to draft a resolution for continuance of the boycott against Nazi Germany.

This conflict of opinions delayed convocation of the plenary session which will terminate the conference.

Pitt Officials Raising Kittens

Kittens Will Be Trained To Fight Rats That Infest New Cathedral Of Learning

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23.—University of Pittsburgh's greatest minds today had solved a truly great problem.

It seems there are rats in the huge 41-story Cathedral of Learning which will be the home of the university soon. Rats are always unwelcome in any building. The question arose in the minds of the authorities how to make the rats know it.

Finally, some of the university's janitors had an idea. They brought a box of the biggest, boldest, tomcats they could find to the cathedral.

Have New Idea.

But the cats were apparently afflicted by nostalgia. One by one, they stole away and went back to their homes and perhaps a fireside.

Pitt's great minds were thrown for a loss. Then a truly brilliant idea struck home in their minds. They asked: "If cats get homesick, why not raise the cathedral's cats to be at home in the cathedral? We will bring them in as small kittens and wait for them to grow big enough to fight the rats with some hope of victory."

That is being done. The Cathedral of Learning is now "home" to half-a-dozen half-grown kittens. Their diet? Sauces of milk, twice daily.

Changes will have to be made in the refueling pit before they can make another attempt, the young women decided.

Communists In Germany Held

By TOM WILHELM International News Service Staff

BERLIN, Aug. 23.—The German government today took official cognizance of reports published abroad that arrests have been made in connection with Chancellor Hitler's campaign to convert the 10 per cent of the electorate which voted against him in the recent plebiscite.

A number of arrests have been made, an official communique asserted, but the prisoners, instead of being dissident voters, were actually communists long suspected of complicity in a treason plot against the government.

The statement follows: "Foreign press dispatches and reports have appeared stating that a campaign against opposition voters had been begun by the secret police, arresting 150 persons who voted against Hitler."

"According to these dispatches, action was directed against two groups—Catholics and Jews. "According to those papers, this is the signal for a huge hunt and persecution directed against oppositionists."

"This hunt exists, according to officialdom, only in foreign press fantasies."

"The dispatches naturally are lies from beginning to end. "Arrests on these grounds have been made in no case. It appears here that some ill-willing and sensation-seeking correspondent seized upon a few communists arrested in recent days in connection with a large and long-existing high treason plot as a means of creating a libelous campaign of hate."

Profit Taking Induced By

RAILROAD SHARES
PRIME FAVORITES

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Profit-taking induced by yesterday's widespread advance checked the rally in the market today and brought a moderate amount of irregularity into evidence.
Trading, however, slowed down to a snail's pace once the irregularity set in and such losses as did come into being were held to small fractions as the market preserved its good looks.
Another factor in snagging the advance was the treasury's action in allowing the shipment of $1,000,000 to France, thereby rallying the dollar.
Railroad shares were again the prime favorites with the trading element today. While attempts to extend yesterday's gains met with only slight success, a few issues such as Atchison, Southern Railway and Southern Pacific scored fractional gains.
Utilities displayed a better tone today, with Columbia Gas and National Power Co. light advancing fractionally on a fair demand.
United States Steel and other industrial shares were sluggish. General Motors and Chrysler ran into offerings shortly after the opening and suffered small losses.
Commodity markets were reactionary, with wheat and cotton off moderately.

World Jewish Conference In 1935 Is Planned

Formal Vote Is Taken At Geneva, Switzerland, By Jewish Conference Committee

YEARS OF EFFORT ENDS SUCCESSFULLY

(International News Service) GENEVA, Aug. 23.—Decisions of the political committee of the World Jewish conference to hold a world congress here next year was recorded in a formal vote today, climaxing years of effort.

Jewish leaders since 1932 have been attempting to summon a general congress representing all nations.

The original plans have to have delegates elected from all the nations to be represented were modified to the extent that the meeting will be held in July or August, 1935.

"Even if not all the members can be chosen by election."

To Meet Conditions This stipulation was made to meet conditions in Germany, where leaders here believed the Jews will be unable to hold elections, and in the United States, where various powerful Jewish organizations have refused to recognize the Geneva deliberations as representative of unanimous Jewish world opinion.

This conflict of opinions delayed convocation of the plenary session which will terminate the conference.

Pitt Officials Raising Kittens

Kittens Will Be Trained To Fight Rats That Infest New Cathedral Of Learning

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23.—University of Pittsburgh's greatest minds today had solved a truly great problem.

It seems there are rats in the huge 41-story Cathedral of Learning which will be the home of the university soon. Rats are always unwelcome in any building. The question arose in the minds of the authorities how to make the rats know it.

Finally, some of the university's janitors had an idea. They brought a box of the biggest, boldest, tomcats they could find to the cathedral.

Have New Idea. But the cats were apparently afflicted by nostalgia. One by one, they stole away and went back to their homes and perhaps a fireside.

Pitt's great minds were thrown for a loss.

Then a truly brilliant idea struck home in their minds. They asked: "If cats get homesick, why not raise the cathedral's cats to be at home in the cathedral? We will bring them in as small kittens and wait for them to grow big enough to fight the rats with some hope of victory."

Oh! That is being done. The Cathedral of Learning is now "home" to half-a-dozen half-grown kittens. Their diet? Sauces of milk, twice daily.

Communists In Germany Held

By TOM WILHELM International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Aug. 23.—The German government today took official cognizance of reports published abroad that arrests have been made in connection with Chancellor Hitler's campaign to convert the 10 per cent of the electorate which voted against him in the recent plebiscite.

A number of arrests have been made, an official communique asserted, but the prisoners, instead of being dissident voters, were actually communists long suspected of complicity in a treason plot against the government.

Reports to the contrary were branded as utterly false and as "fantasies."

The statement follows: "Foreign press dispatches and reports have appeared stating that a campaign against opposition voters had been begun by the secret police, arresting 150 persons who voted against Hitler."

"According to these dispatches, action was directed against two groups—Catholics and Jews."

"According to these papers, this is the signal for a huge hunt and persecution directed against oppositionists."

"This hunt exists, according to officialdom, only in foreign press fantasies."

"The dispatches naturally are lies from beginning to end."

In prosperity let us most carefully avoid pride, disdain and arrogance. —Cicero

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Secretary of Interior Ickes, as oil administrator, today ordered a reduction of 107,600 barrels daily in September oil production. The national allowable production was fixed at 2,341,700 barrels daily in September as compared with 2,449,300 for August.

THINGS WENT SPINNING AROUND BEFORE MRS. DERR TOOK VENDOR

A Sluggish Liver Also Made Her Feel Tired and Drowsy. Stomach Was Weak, Bowels Constipated. Got Wonderful Relief By Taking Vendor Few Weeks.

"I used to have dizzy spells that made me feel like I was on a merry-go-round, but Vendor has worked off my liver so nicely that all this is over now," said Mrs. Frank Derr of 16 South Street, New Castle.

"I could hardly eat anything without being distressed from sourness, gas, bloating, and shortness of breath. If I'd lie down after meals, I'd awake with a mouthful of bitter liquid that almost strangled me. Many a night I'd be restless from indigestion, then next morning there was a bad taste in my mouth and my tongue would be coated. Often there was a burning feeling in my stomach."

"My bowels were constipated all the time, I often had headaches, and frequently my hands, limbs, and feet would feel numb and tingle like pins were sticking me."

"The first bottle of Vendor helped me so I kept it up, and now have taken four bottles and truly I've never had any medicine do so much for me."

"My digestion is so much better that I no longer have the sourness, gas, nor shortness of breath. The numb feeling has passed off and I never feel dizzy, any more. Vendor and the little laxative tablets have purged my liver nicely, regulated my bowels, and given me a good digestion, so that I feel strong and well and enjoy better health than for a long time."

Vendor is sold by New Castle Drug Company, 31 East Washington St., and 24 N. Mill Street, and by all leading druggists everywhere.
